Motive Is Sought For Killing of 4 By Sharpshooter

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP) —Why sharpshooter Daniel Raymond killed four passersby and wounded five others before being shot dead himself remained a mystery today to residents in the nearby mountain community of Chalkhill.

Although Raymond's wife indicated the shooting spree was touched off by his "nervousness," there were no clear-cut answers.

State police, protected by a tank, cut down the 42-year-old Raymond with a hail of machine gun bullets as he fled his burning home, climaxing a lengthy battle. Incendiary and tear gas bombs lobbed from the tank had set the home afire.

The mountaineer saw a doctor only Feb. 16 because he was nervous, his wife said.

Raymond, a pipeline worker for a natural gas company, had a reputation among the mountain folk in this southwestern Pennsylvania area for being a crack shot. He did his lethal shooting from the second story of his home, located about 50 feet from a rural road.

Before police shut off the road to traffic Raymond fired for nine hours at almost everything that moved—cars and trucks. Only once did he fail to fire at a moving vehicle. This was a school bus carrying about 50 youngsters.

Veteran state troopers hugged the tank as it opened fire. They, too, peppered the house with volley after volley. Finally, the berserk Raymond tried to make a run for it. He ran a few feet, then dropped as the machine gun bullets cut through his body.

Those killed by Raymond were: Mary Frances Sissler, 61, and Edna Maes, 53, both of Ohio.

William Burd, 49-year-old highways department worker from Farmington, Pa.; and May Maust of Farmington, Pa.

Wounded were: Harry Cromwell, 31, of Ohio; Lawrence Swengish, 18, of Haddonville, Pa.; Carlus Maust, 22, husband of Mrs. Maust, and two Maust children, Mary, 3, and Eddie, 18 months.

Raymond was armed with two rifles, one with a telescopic sight.

Police said they probably never will know just what triggered the tragedy although Raymond had been "acting nervous." His wife said he set fire to their living room about 12 hours before the shooting began. She said he doused the fire but she was frightened and took her three children to stay overnight with neighbors.

This was the chain of events as pieced together by police:

Burd and his helper, Robert Richey, drove their cinderling truck past the Raymond home about 8 a.m. Raymond shouted at them from a second-story window, asking them to cinder his driveway. Glad to oblige, Richey jumped to the ground to spread the cinders.

Suddenly, Raymond appeared at the window again. He opened fire, hitting Burd twice. Richey dove for cover. Burd managed to start the truck but it crashed into a tree 100 yards away.

Two motorists, George Smalley, 30, and Joseph Pickens, went to Burd's aid. They were not hit by Raymond. Burd died en route to a hospital.

Swengish was hit next as a shot pierced his windshield. A fire truck with volunteers braved rifle fire to rescue him. He was in a Pittsburgh hospital where his left eye was removed Wednesday night.

Then along came a car driven by Cromwell. He was shot and his car ground to a halt. He stayed in the car for what he said seemed an eternity. He was in fair condition at a hospital.

Mrs. Maes and Mrs. Sissler were next. Their car apparently went off the road when it was hit by rifle fire. They were shot as they tried to run. Their bodies lay on the road until Raymond was shot to death.

Now came the car occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Maust and their two children. A shot rang out. Mrs. Maust collapsed against her husband. She was dead. Then Maust and his children were wounded. The car ground to a halt.

Maust cowered on the floor with his children. Hours later police found the car. Maust and his kids were in fair condition.

Ohio Schools Get $40 Million Fund

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The third quarterly payment of nearly 40 million dollars in school foundation funds boosted total state expenditures for the year to $1,069,981,976, State Auditor James A. Rhodes has reported.

He said total state receipts to date aggregated $1,071,404,823. That will leave only $1,422,247 to meet a $2,400,000 state obligation as the state's share of payments into the retirement systems for teachers and school employees. But revenues are expected to permit full payment this month.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said today that he believes there will be enough money to make retirement payments satisfactorily.

Rights Debate Tests Cunning

Solons Maneuvering For Edge in Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some political maneuvering with the precision of a ballet dance is going on behind the facade of the Senate's marathon debate on civil rights legislation.

While one Dixie speaker after another cries out against what many of them call the "lynching" of the South, members on both sides are huddling behind the ornate closed doors of the cloakrooms to plot fresh political strategy.

The timing of a motion to limit debate is of paramount concern in these conferences.

The senators talked on for more than 12 1/2 hours before quitting Wednesday night, and Southerners threatened to prevent committee meetings and tie up all other Senate business in retaliation for the lengthened sessions.

The principal question facing civil rights advocates is: How long should the thus far one-sided debate be permitted to spin off the weary hours before a parliamentary move is made to curb it?

The question for Southern opponents is: How long do we have to carry the burden of talking before the other side tries to demonstrate it has the votes to end our filibuster in a manner in which the folks at home can't blame us?

For the Southerners the problem is largely one of conserving their physical strength and vocal chords by time-delaying parliamentary tactics until the other side moves.

For the civil rights advocates, the problem of timing is much more complicated. Almost without exception senators are proud that theirs is one legislative body left in the world in which a man ordinarily can talk as long as he likes about any subject he chooses.

Liquor Store Thief Is Shot by Detectives

CLEVELAND (AP) — A young man trying to break into a state liquor store at 5607 Woodland Ave. was shot and killed by detectives early today.

He was identified by police as Feldon Rogers, 21, address unknown.

Police said Rogers had torn off a window screen at the rear of the store and was preparing to break the window when he was surprised by two detectives making a routine check.

A WELCOME FOR IKE — Rio De Janeiro waits for President Eisenhower to drive down flag-decked Rio Branco avenue with its "Welcome Ike" signs.

Two Georgia Road Homes Must Be Moved, Court Says

The Pickaway County Common Pleas Court today ordered Boyer & Son, a Chillicothe construction firm, to move two homes in its Georgia Road subdivision.

Judge William Ammer ruled that the houses now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. John E. Adler and Mr. and Mrs. Dan A. Kimsey must be moved within four months from the date of the journal entry which will soon be entered in the records of the County Clerk of Court's office.

Judge Ammer found that the two homes are in violation of Circleville's zoning ordinance which requires all houses must be set back 60 feet from the center of a street.

The Adler and Kimsey homes, erected by Boyer, are 6 feet, 6 inches and 3 feet, 7 inches to close to the street.

The city maintained in its suit against Boyer & Son that it had violated a city zoning ordinance and by not setting back the two homes the proper distance.

IN ALL, Boyer constructed eight homes in the Georgia Road area, six of which were set back according to the ordinance.

City Solicitor Robert H. Huffer, 210 S. Court St., who filed the suit for the city, originally filed a restraining order against further home construction by Boyer.

Later he relented and allowed the company to finish construction of the houses. The two homes in violation are located directly behind the Carl M. Bach residence, 369 Northridge Road, and on the corner of Georgia and Cedar Heights Roads.

This was the first court case to test the validity of Circleville's zoning ordinances. Huffer said today that the city victory should

Dem Decoy Delegates Due For Hearing

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cuyahoga County Board of Elections has issued subpoenas for about 30 persons to appear here Friday at a hearing into protests against alleged decoy candidates for Democratic presidential convention delegates.

The subpoenas were requested by Charles R. Miller, attorney for two candidates on Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's delegate slate. Miller's clients are the former U. S. Sen. Thomas A. Burke and Margaret A. Mahoney, state director of industrial relations.

The protests are aimed at the candidacy of Thomas P. Burke, an employee in the county auditor's office, and Elizabeth M. Mahony. Miller contends their petitions were not circulated according to law and that T. P. Burke is not a resident of the district he wants to represent as a convention delegate.

Among those ordered to appear are circulators, notaries and signers of the petitions.

In three Cleveland districts the delegate race has been entered by candidates with names similar to those of DiSalle candidates. Ray T. Miller Sr., Cuyahoga County Democratic chairman, also has entered a slate of candidates. He has denied responsibility for the "like-name" entries.

Boyer's attorney, William Stanhope, Chillicothe, presented eight points in his brief contesting the validity of the city's zoning regulations.

Briefs were ordered by Judge Ammer after the trial was held in September. Judge Ammer resolved the eight points as follows: Stanhope questioned whether the original zoning ordinance was enacted according to statute. Judge Ammer stated all essential procedures were complied with in the adoption of the 1951 original zoning regulations and they are a valid enactment which includes the zone map.

Another Rousing Welcome Given to Ike by Brazilians

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—President Eisenhower rode bareheaded in a heavy rain today to acknowledge the acclaim of this booming industrial metropolis. Brazilians danced, jumped and shouted in their enthusiasm over his visit.

Eisenhower flew from Rio de Janeiro under overcast skies to spend 6 1/2 hours in this Brazilian Chicago, 220 miles southwest of Rio. He goes to Argentina Friday.

A drizzling rain started soon after the President's motorcade left the airport. It was a downpour by the time the procession reached the Praza Bandeira, or Flag Plaza, where thousands had gathered to see him. Some had umbrellas, most did not.

Eisenhower donned a raincoat, doffed his hat and waved.

Confetti and ticker tape rained down from buildings surrounding the valley in which the central plaza is situated.

Considering the weather, it was a big turnout.

Eisenhower on arrival reported he had heard Sao Paulo is the fastest growing city in the world. He said in a brief greeting speech it was a personal pleasure to have the chance to "witness first-hand the mighty achievement of this fabulous country."

Eisenhower pledged that "within our financial and economic capacity, we shall continue to support Brazilian development." Brazil has received more than 2 1/2 billion dollars in U. S. public and private credits.

His schedule included the placing of a wreath on a memorial to Brazilians who died as soldiers in his European command in World War II. Eisenhower termed this a "very special and, to me, deeply moving mission to perform in your city."

Gov. Carlos Alberto Carvalho Pinto of Sao Paulo State, Brazil's most populous and richest state, and the city's mayor, Adhemar de Barros, welcomed Eisenhower and his party at Congonhas Airport.

After military honors, Eisenhower and the governor entered an open car and moved off slowly behind a motorcycle escort for a parade through the city's streets to the governor's official residence, Campos Eliseos—Elysian Fields. Even in the vicinity of the airport spectators lined the curbs.

Fifteen minutes later, a drizzle started in the center of the city, and the sparse crowd raised umbrellas.

Around the plaza, thousands of grammar and high school children lined the route. Many of them wore school uniforms. Spectators waved flags of the United States and Brazil.

Blue-uniformed city police lined the big square, spotted at intervals about 10 feet apart.

Just before the President's car arrived, a band struck up "God Bless America."

Southwest Ohio Nike Base Open

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — A flip of a switch Wednesday night put Nike missile bases here and at Oxford and Felicity, Ohio, and Dillsboro, Ind., into operation and tied them in with the North American defense network.

Lt. Col. Charles R. Arvin, commanding officer of the Fifth Missile Battalion, said:

"Greater Cincinnati now is comparatively safe from any sneak enemy air attack."

Col. Arvin told Air Force and Army officers, and officials from Clinton County, that no aggressor now could get within 500 miles of the area without being seen on the radar screen and subsequently being "killed" by one of the Nike missiles.

He said the missiles stored at the four bases are capable of carrying nuclear warheads but he added, "I cannot confirm or deny if we have any on the base."

Col. Murray A. Bywater, commander of the Strategic Air Command of nearby Clinton County Air Force Base, said he had recently witnessed Nike operation and saw two planes being downed in practice runs.

For the first time a civilian audience was permitted to enter the "top secret" plotting room and witness a simulated enemy attack as plotted on a large plastic map of the North American continent.

Capt. Marvin H. Gibbs, air defense operational officer, put on a step-by-step operation ending in the "splash hit" on an enemy plane north of Cincinnati.

Radio and telephone communications among pilots and crewmen from the four local bases and from Ft. Knox, Ky., plotted the "enemy" plane every two minutes as it moved toward the local target area at speeds estimated at more than 600 miles an hour.

Capt. Gibbs said that when there is an announcement of any heavy movement of an "aggressor" air force, a three-hour alert is put into effect at the Wilmington site. As the situation becomes more serious this goes into one-hour, 30-minute, 15-minute and then five-minute alerts.

Crum Tries To Escape Hillsboro Jail

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP)—Everett Crum just won't give up trying to break out of jail.

The 32-year-old man who escaped at gunpoint from city jail in Wilmington last week, and was captured 55 hours later, was caught at it again Wednesday.

Sheriff Walter Reffitt of Highland County, found that Crum had chipped out several bricks beneath a window in the washroom of the jail here. He also had tampered with the lock opening the cell block door.

Following questioning, Crum, who has been charged with two kidnappings and other crimes, was removed to the jail at West Union.

In Adams County court today, Crum pleaded innocent to two charges of kidnapping.

Judge Clyde S. Demint ordered Crum held for the grand jury under $3,000 bond on each charge. Sheriff Eugene Fulton of Adams County, said he would return the man to Wilmington jail Friday.

Crum, who escaped last week at gunpoint, shot two policemen in his flight, and held another man with a pistol at his head for two hours, finally submitted to capture last Saturday at Cherry Fork. At that time he said he would not try to escape again.

"Don't you like it here?" Reffitt asked Crum after his attempt was discovered.

"Boys, I just don't like it here," Crum replied.

He had had freedom of a five-cell block and corridor. At West Union, he was confined in a single cell.

Castro Plans Program To Industrialize Cuba

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro announced today that his government will spend 152 million pesos—152 million dollars—this year on the start of a program to industrialize Cuba and make the nation economically independent.

As soon as the plane was visually sighted, its position and other data were fed into a computing machine. In turn the relative position of the missile was put into the computer.

"Within seconds the missile and the plane are infallibly linked so that the end result will be the complete demolition of the plane when the two make contact," Capt. Gibbs said.

The local base has a radar pick-up area flanked by Washington, D.C. in the east and St. Louis in the west. To the north is Detroit and south to Chattanooga, Tenn., Capt. Gibbs said.

Cost of Living Dips Slightly

Clothing, Auto Tags Drop in New Index

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lower prices for clothing, new cars, eggs and most meats brought a slight decline in living costs in January.

It was the second straight monthly dip in the government's living cost index.

Even so, the index is still just a little under its record high.

And, although down from December, the January living cost level was a record high for a January.

The Labor Department reported today the index dropped one-tenth of one per cent in January to 125.4 per cent of the 1947-49 base period. This is the lowest living cost level since September but it is 1.3 per cent above a year earlier.

The slight change will have its effect on wages of various workers whose union contracts provide for wage adjustments geared to the index.

Wages of about 60,000 workers in aircraft and farm machinery industries will be reduced, in most cases by one cent an hour.

About 14,000 trucking industry workers will receive a one per cent hour raise on a different adjustment basis.

There will be no wage change for about one million workers in the auto and related products industries.

The Labor Department also reported that spendable earnings of factory workers remained at a record high in January. This is contrary to the seasonal tendency and is despite a rise of one-half of one per cent in the social security tax.

Spendable earnings—or net pay—checks after tax deductions—averaged $82.33 a week in January for a worker heading a family of four, and $74.74 for the single worker.

Compared with a year earlier these earnings were up about $3.50 a week or 4 1/2 per cent.

Among the passengers were: Mrs. Beulah Cannon, 27, Columbus, Ohio, and her daughter, Linda, 8; William Wright, 20, Cleveland, Ohio and Leroy Bennett, 42, Washington Court House, Ohio.

Many of the passengers suffered severe shock as well as minor cuts and bruises.

One of the passengers, Ronald Consolver, 18, an Air Force enlisted man from Ft. Gordon, Ga., said the impact had knocked him out of a bus window.

Truck driver Andrew Barnes, 43, of Cincinnati, said he could not control his truck after it had begun to jackknife as he headed around a curve and down a slope toward the mouth of the bridge.

He said the trailer slid across the highway center stripe and smashed head on into the south-bound bus. Barnes was not hurt.

The bus was bound from Lexington to Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mystery Sub Hunt Is Abandoned

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—The Argentine navy has given up trying to trap a mystery submarine many Argentines doubt ever existed.

Navy Secretary Gaston Clement Wednesday night announced an end to search operations in Golfo Nuevo, where the navy had said the sub was hiding. Clement said no contact had been made with the intruder for several days.

An all-out search was launched after ships reported detecting a submarine in the south coast gulf Jan. 30. The bulk of Argentina's naval forces blockaded the 20-by-40-mile gulf and dropped depth charges repeatedly.

Treacherous Roads Slated For Pickaway

More White Stuff Is Due Tomorrow, Weatherman Says

Pickaway County is expected to experience snow, sleet and rain today, which is predicted to turn into a sheet of ice tonight when temperatures dip to 26 degrees.

Both the County Engineering and State Highway Department are preparing to battle expected treacherous road conditions tonight and early tomorrow.

A little over an inch of snow fell early today as 0.08 of inch of melted snow was reported by County Weatherman Harry A. Styers.

BOTH THE county and the state had road crews working at dawn today. They were salting the snow covered highways and plowing back drifted snow.

All operations were practically halted at noon today when the early morning snow and sleet disappeared in a downpour of rain.

Most primary and secondary roads are clear and wet with slush in some spots. The same report of county roads was given by County Engineer Henry T. McCrady.

Sixteen of February's 24 days to date have received some precipitation, mostly in the form of rain, which makes up 1.94 inches of the month's total precipitation of 2.26 inches.

February still is 0.11 of an inch ahead of the average, but the year's total trails the average by 0.53 of an inch. The Scioto River remains mild at 3.72 feet.

The forecast calls for today's rain and sleet to change to snow tonight and tomorrow. All highway departments caution motorists not to drive unless it is absolutely necessary.

Temperatures changed little over Ohio during the night, with early morning readings ranging from 23 at Youngstown to 34 at Chesapeake.

Big Truck Jackknifes Into Bus

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP)—A trailer truck jackknifed on a snow-slick curve early this morning and collided head on with a Greyhound bus carrying 22 passengers.

Only the bus driver was killed. He was Leland S. Cummins, 50, of Lexington, Ky.

All the passengers were taken to a Richmond infirmary, but only one was believed hurt seriously. He is Robert Caylor, 44, of Detroit. Doctors said his left leg was broken.

Among the passengers were: Mrs. Beulah Cannon, 27, Columbus, Ohio, and her daughter, Linda, 8; William Wright, 20, Cleveland, Ohio and Leroy Bennett, 42, Washington Court House, Ohio.

Many of the passengers suffered severe shock as well as minor cuts and bruises.

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—President Eisenhower rode bareheaded in a heavy rain today to acknowledge the acclaim of this booming industrial metropolis.

Brazilians danced, jumped and shouted in their enthusiasm over his visit.

Eisenhower flew from Rio de Janeiro under overcast skies to spend 6 1/2 hours in this Brazilian Chicago, 220 miles southwest of Rio. He goes to Argentina Friday.

A drizzling rain started soon after the President's motorcade

40 U.S. Band Members on Crashed Plane

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—A U.S. Navy DC4 and a Brazilian plane collided today near Sugar Loaf Mountain. The DC4 plummeted into Guanabara Bay. A Brazilian air force spokesman said he believed it had aboard 40 men believed to be members of a U.S. military band.

The U.S. Navy plane was said to carry the number 13582. Presumably the band was here in connection with President Eisenhower's visit.

The second plane was identified by the Brazilian air force spokesman as a C46 or DC3 of the Real Line, a big domestic carrier in Brazil.

President Eisenhower was in Sao Paulo today when the collision occurred.

Reports from the Rio Yacht Club, near the scene of the collision, said some musical instruments had been pulled from the water along with nine bodies.

A U.S. Marine band came to Rio last week and participated Wednesday in the parade honoring Eisenhower. It was to have flown to Buenos Aires, Argentina, today to take part in ceremonies honoring President Eisenhower there Friday.

Shakespearean Actor Gets Professional Tip

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—The scene was tense Shakespeare. As Othello throttled Desdemona someone in the audience shouted, "Don't do it, buddy, they'll send you to jail."

"You just don't know what to expect," said Dr. Lewin Goff in retrospect. His University of Kansas players had presented scenes from "Othello," "Brigadoon" and "Teahouse of the August Moon" to an audience of 900 inmates at Leavenworth Federal Prison.

left the airport. It was a down pour by the time the procession reached the Praza Bandeira, or Flag Plaza, where thousands had gathered to see him. Some had umbrellas, most did not.

Eisenhower donned a raincoat, doffed his hat and waved. Confetti and ticker tape rained down from buildings surrounding the valley in which the central plaza is situated.

Considering the weather, it was a big turnout.

Eisenhower on arrival reported he had heard Sao Paulo is the fastest growing city in the world. He said in a brief greeting speech, it was a personal pleasure to have the chance to "witness first-hand the mighty achievement of this fabulous community."

Eisenhower pledged that "with our financial and economic capacity, we shall continue to support Brazilian development." Brazil has received more than 2 1/2 billion dollars in U. S. public and private credits.

His schedule included the placing of a wreath on a memorial to Brazilians who died as soldiers in his European command in World War II. Eisenhower termed this a "very special and, to me, deeply moving mission to perform in your city."

Gov. Carlos Alberto Carvalho Pinto of Sao Paulo State, Brazil's most populous and richest state, and the city's mayor, Adhemar de Barros, welcomed Eisenhower and his party at Congonhas Airport.

After military honors, Eisenhower and the governor entered an open car and moved off slowly behind a motorcycle escort for a parade through the city's streets to the governor's official residence, Campos Eliseos—Elysian Fields. Even in the vicinity of the airport spectators lined the curbs.

Fifteen minutes later, a drizzle started in the center of the city, and the sparse crowd raised umbrellas.

Around the plaza, thousands of grammar and high school children lined the route. Many of them wore school uniforms. Spectators waved flags of the United States and Brazil.

Blue-uniformed city police lined the big square, spotted at intervals about 10 feet apart.

Just before the President's car arrived, a band struck up "God Bless America."

Detective Gets Test

DETROIT (AP)—Someone stole a kit from James Kimble's auto. It contained a magnifying glass, a fingerprint book, correspondence course lessons and a graduation certificate from a detective school.

Southwest Ohio Nike Base Open

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—A flip of a switch Wednesday night put Nike missile bases here and at Oxford and Felicity, Ohio, and Dillsboro, Ind., into operation and tied them in with the North American defense network.

Lt. Col. Charles R. Arvin, commanding officer of the Fifth Missile Battalion, said:

"Greater Cincinnati now is comparatively safe from any sneak enemy air attack."

Col. Arvin told Air Force and Army officers, and officials from Clinton County, that no aggressor now could get within 500 miles of the area without being seen on the radar screen and subsequently being "killed" by one of the Nike missiles.

He said the missiles stored at the four bases are capable of carrying nuclear warheads but he added, "I cannot confirm or deny if we have any on the base."

Col. Murray A. Bywater, commander of the Strategic Air Command of nearby Clinton County Air Force Base, said he had recently witnessed Nike operation and saw two planes being downed in practice runs.

For the first time a civilian audience was permitted to enter the "top secret" plotting room and witness a simulated enemy attack as plotted on a large plastic map of the North American continent.

Capt. Marvin H. Gibbs, air defense operational officer, put on a step-by-step operation ending in the "splash hit" on an enemy plane north of Cincinnati.

Radio and telephone communications among pilots and crewmen from the four local bases and from Ft. Knox, Ky., plotted the "enemy" plane every two minutes as it moved toward the local target area at speeds estimated at more than 600 miles an hour.

Capt. Gibbs said that when there is an announcement of any heavy movement of an "aggressor" air force, a three-hour alert is put into effect at the Wilmington site. As the situation becomes more serious this goes into one-hour, 30-minute, 15-minute and then five-minute alerts.

The slight change will have this effect on wages of various workers whose union contracts provide for wage adjustments geared to the index:

Wages of about 60,000 workers in aircraft and farm machinery industries will be reduced, in most cases by one cent an hour.

About 14,000 trucking industry workers will receive a one per cent hour raise on a different adjustment basis.

There will be no wage change for about one million workers in the auto and related products industries.

The Labor Department also reported that spendable earnings of factory workers remained at a record high in January. This is contrary to the seasonal tendency and is despite a rise of one-half of one per cent in the social security tax.

Spendable earnings—or net pay—checks after tax deductions—averaged $82.33 a week in January for a worker heading a family of four, and $74.74 for the single worker.

Compared with a year earlier these earnings were up about $3.50 a week or 4 1/2 per cent.

Jury Reaches Quick Verdict In Theft Case

CLEVELAND (AP)—A federal jury took only 45 minutes here Wednesday to return a verdict of guilty in the $107,402 embezzlement case against Edna E. Arndt of Stow, Ohio.

Several of the seven men and five women on the jury said their decision was unanimous on the first ballot.

Miss Arndt admitted embezzling the funds over a period of three years from the Cuyahoga Falls branch of the First National Bank of Akron, where she worked for 13 years. Her defense hinged on the contention she was insane when she took the money.

The shortages were uncovered last March when the bank was dropped as a state sales tax agency.

Judge Paul Jones of the U.S. District Court said he would determine the sentence within a week. Maximum penalty is five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Miss Arndt testified in the week-long trial that the voices of her death father and of Jesus had told her to take the money. She admitted she had covered shortages in her accounts with false receipts. A psychiatrist called by the government testified that in his opinion Miss Arndt was sane when she took the money.

Castro Plans Program To Industrialize Cuba

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro announced today that his government will spend 152 million pesos—152 million dollars—this year on the start of a program to industrialize Cuba and make the nation economically independent.

The Prime Minister told 6,000 cheering union members that neither "economic reprisals" nor threats to stop U.S. purchases of Cuban sugar at premium prices will deter his program.

Treacherous Roads Slated For Pickaway

More White Stuff Is Due Tomorrow, Weatherman Says

Pickaway County is expected to experience snow, sleet and rain today, which is predicted to turn into a sheet of ice tonight when temperatures dip to 26 degrees.

Both the County Engineering and State Highway Department are preparing to battle expected treacherous road conditions tonight and early tomorrow.

A little over an inch of snow fell early today as 0.08 of inch of melted snow was reported by County Weatherman Harry A. Styers.

BOTH THE county and the state had road crews working at dawn today. They were salting the snow covered highways and plowing back drifted snow.

All operations were practically halted at noon today when the early morning snow and sleet disappeared in a downpour of rain.

Most primary and secondary roads are clear and wet with slush in some spots. The same report of county roads was given by County Engineer Henry T. McCrady.

Sixteen of February's 24 days to date have received some precipitation, mostly in the form of rain, which makes up 1.94 inches of the month's total precipitation of 2.26 inches.

February still is 0.11 of an inch ahead of the average, but the year's total trails the average by 0.53 of an inch. The Scioto River remains mild at 3.72 feet.

The forecast calls for today's rain and sleet to change to snow tonight and tomorrow. All highway departments caution motorists not to drive unless it is absolutely necessary.

Temperatures changed little over Ohio during the night, with early morning readings ranging from 23 at Youngstown to 34 at Chesa-peake.

The storm is forecast to move

Big Truck Jackknifes Into Bus

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP)—A trailer truck jackknifed on a snow-slick curve early this morning and collided head on with a Greyhound bus carrying 22 passengers.

Only the bus driver was killed. He was Leland S. Cummins, 50, of Lexington, Ky.

All the passengers were taken to a Richmond infirmary, but only one was believed hurt seriously. He is Robert Caylor, 44, of Detroit. Doctors said his left leg was broken.

Among the passengers were: Mrs. Beulah Cannon, 27, Columbus, Ohio, and her daughter, Linda, 8; William Wright, 20, Cleveland, Ohio and Leroy Bennett, 42, Washington Court House, Ohio.

Many of the passengers suffered severe shock as well as minor cuts and bruises.

One of the passengers, Ronald Conser, 18, an Air Force enlistment man from Ft. Gordon, Ga., said the impact had knocked him out of a bus window.

Truck driver Andrew Barnes, 43, of Cincinnati, said he could not control his truck after it had begun to jackknife as he headed around a curve and down a slope toward the mouth of the bridge.

He said the trailer slid across the highway center stripe and smashed head on into the south-bound bus. Barnes was not hurt.

The bus was bound from Lexington to Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mystery Sub Hunt Is Abandoned

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—The Argentine navy has given up trying to trap a mystery submarine many Argentines doubt ever existed.

Navy Secretary Gaston Clement Wednesday night announced an end to search operations in Golfo Nuevo, where the navy had said the sub was hiding. Clement said no contact had been made with the intruder for several days.

An all-out search was launched after ships reported detecting a submarine in the south coast gulf Jan. 30. The bulk of Argentina's naval forces blockaded the 20-by-40-mile gulf and dropped depth charges repeatedly.

Deaths and Funerals

MRS. MYRTA MARIE BUTLER

Tank-Truck Damaged in Route 23 Fire

A tank-trailer truck assembly was heavily damaged when the tank portion of the outfit caught fire on Route 23 about three miles north of South Bloomfield at 4:30 p. m. yesterday.

The truck was driven by William E. Moody, Route 2, Mt. Sterling, an operator for the National Tank & Truck Co. of Columbus. He was not hurt. Damage to the tank-trailer was estimated at $1,500.

Moody told Deputy Sheriff's Dwight Radcliff and Robert Hoover that he was headed north when he observed smoke pouring from the tank-trailer.

The driver said he halted the truck and investigated. He said agitator pumps were blazing.

THE deputies said Moody was unable to douse the blaze with his own fire equipment. The Ashville-Harrison Fire Department dispatched a tanker and a pumper to extinguish the flames.

The deputies said the assembly was used for hauling liquid bulk starch. They said damage was confined to the tank. The tractor was unhitched from the rest of the outfit.

County Gets N & W Land

The Virginia Holding Co. Monday presented Pickaway County with a strip of land bordering the Norfolk & Western Railway Co. and the Circleville-Tarleton Road in Pickaway Twp.

The company, a real estate purchasing firm for the N&W gave the county a narrow strip of land measuring approximately 1,500 feet. It amounts to 0.18 of an acre.

The Pickaway County Commissioners Monday ordered County Engineer Henry T. McCrady to erect stop signs in Pickaway and Circleville Twp. Original requests for the signs were made by the trustees of these two townships.

In addition, several roads were made through streets. Renick Ave. was made a through street from the corporation limit east to the Kingston Pike.

Two Georgia

area, was properly enacted. Stanhope claimed this ordinance was not approved by the City Planning and Zoning Commission in 1954.

The local jurist ruled that a letter, which was admitted into evidence, asked City Council to approve the annexation and Council accepted the area on the same date, which was April 6, 1954.

JUDGE AMMER said there was nothing that required approval of the P&Z Commission. Stanhope said the P & Z Commission didn't approve the area at the time it was first accepted by the County Commissioners.

"Until the city adopts a master plan or some type of ordinance governing the three-mile area surrounding Circleville, it has no say in any matter developing outside the corporation limits," Judge Ammer ruled.

The defendants said that the ordinance zoning the area in question wasn't properly enacted. They claim that the ordinance didn't show approval by the P&Z, which statute requires.

Judge Ammer said the P&Z Commission indicated its approval of the area by a letter sent to City Council which sufficed as far as the law is concerned.

Boyer contended that since the set back rule of 20 feet was included in the county zoning rules that it would apply to the area even after it was annexed into the city.

Judge Ammer stated that the city's zoning ordinance is just as much a part of record as the original Joseph C. Moats subdivision plat, of which the area in question was a part.

The building firm said the set back provisions are only for beauty's sake and not a valid reason for protesting public welfare. The jurist said the courts always have held that set back rules are for public welfare and therefore have police powers for their enforcement.

The defendants contended the set back provisions are indefinite. Judge Ammer said that they are clear and definite in the city's ordinance.

Stanhope said that Service Director Carl Radcliff Sr. gave his clients approval to continue construction and that he felt the houses are in accordance with the ordinance.

Judge Ammer held that Director Radcliff cannot bind the city in any way. He also said that two defense witnesses, Faye Boyer and Boyer's superintendent, both testified that they hadn't inquired about the ordinance but had just assumed there was one.

He said testimony brought out the fact that both men knew the houses were protruding but failed to inquire and this was a clear violation of the zoning ordinance.

Boyer's final argument was that the city waited too long to file against it. Judge Ammer ruled that in cases of individuals Boyer may have had a point but it does not apply to public bodies.

He said regardless of any personal complaint, the P&Z Commission has a duty to enforce any and all zoning regulations. "Although the building permit, issued Boyer, was never revoked, the P&Z Commission still has the right to proceed by injunction, which was done," Judge Ammer said.

The court allowed the mandatory injunction requested by the city for Boyer to move the houses. Informed sources say Boyer will appeal the verdict. This maneuver was expected by Judge Ammer.

Yellow Springs-Antioch Agreement Reached

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — Yellow Springs has offered to drop its plan to construct a gravity-flow sewer line through Antioch College's scenic Glen Helen, ending a year-old dispute. In return the college offered the village water rights in Glen Helen, a site for sewage treatment and disposal plants and, when necessary, a water treatment plant.

Get-Rich-Quick Schemes Still Peddled in Ohio

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—How does this proposition sound to you? "Market a new product in your spare time... exclusive rights in your area... only a small investment required... no experience... make up to $15,000 a year..."

If it sounds good, look out. You might end up with your savings down the drain and a basement full of unsaleable merchandise, according to Hazel Nolan, manager of the Dayton Better Business Bureau.

Shady franchise offers, she reports, are a big bugaboo to the bureau. As in all activities in which opportunistic promoters fleece the public, there are many legitimate propositions, Miss Nolan emphasizes. But the smooth guys invade the field and cut corners. There stock in trade is misleading the victims.

And after the deal is signed and the money paid, the victim might find himself with a load of merchandise that isn't new, can't be sold at a competitive price (if it can even be sold at all), and with an area that isn't exclusive.

The "revolutionary new products" range all the way from roof sprays that are supposed to stop leaks, shoestrings and gadgets that claim to cut gasoline mileage, Miss Nolan said.

Franchises and "rack deals" have largely replaced the old vending machine schemes, mainly because the latter have had so much adverse publicity the public has become leery of them, she added.

In the rack deals (again many are legitimate—the question is, is the firm responsible?) the lure is an "established route" plus the usual small investment and "no experience needed" plums to dangle.

"Often nothing can be done legally about these operators because they work in a gray area," Miss Nolan said. "No direct promises are made. The rack salesman may say many things—but the contract does not."

It works this way: You buy the rack and merchandise (often obsolete goods bought up cheap in quantity and resold to you at a much higher price) and a location for your rack—or racks—is provided. The trouble is, it often isn't a good location, Miss Nolan said. That, plus the fact that the merchandise frequently is something nobody wants, usually adds up to quick disillusionment for the pigeon who had the "small investment" to make.

Then there are the earn-at-home rackets. These don't often plague Dayton area residents because local newspapers do not accept advertisements that require any outlay of cash for earning at home, Miss Nolan said. But some sharpies contact housewives and others by direct mail, she added.

There's the home sewing lure. In this one, you agree to buy a kit and there's an implication that once you stitch up some samples they'll be sold for you. In reality, the kit buyer ends up trying to sell the items himself—if he wants to get rid of them at all. And he usually finds that his outlay of time and money has priced them out of the market, Miss Nolan added.

There's envelope addressing. In one phase of this racket the home typist finds she's spent from $1 to $5 for a set of instructions on how to address envelopes.

In the other phase you get a supply of envelopes and directions on how to prepare a mailing list. You pay your own postage, but you get a commission if any orders come in. If none come in, you're out the postage and the concern has had its mailing done for nothing.

"The trouble is," Miss Nolan said, "that in these days of big families and expenses anything that promises big financial returns for a minimum of spare time work is appealing."

"The simple truth is that no one should think of going into business for himself without knowledge and experience. You can't make money with the best product in the world if you don't have know-how behind you."

Judge Sterling M. Lamb said the increases are designed for stricter and better enforcement of the law here. He emphasized that the move is not for the sole purpose of increasing city revenue.

Judge Lamb said the increase in Court costs was authorized by the last session of the State Legislature. He pointed out that fines in most cases still will remain below the maximum authorized by law. The judge said most courts throughout the nation have increased bonds and costs in an effort to attain better traffic safety. He said the feeling is that the stiffer the penalty, the more careful drivers will be.

Judge Lamb recently received a resolution from Pickaway County's Mt. Pleasant Grange requesting stricter enforcement of traffic laws.

Starting Tuesday normal court costs will be increased from $6.50 to $9 in accordance with state law. Fines or posting of bonds will increase accordingly for various offenses.

Judge Lamb noted that fines will vary according to circumstances in the or violations.

He said the usual procedure of $1 fine for each mile per hour in excess of the speed limit generally will remain in effect. Again he stressed that the final fine will depend on the nature of the case.

As an example, a motorist apprehended on a usual charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants paid $100 and $6.50 in costs. Now the fine will be $125 and $9 in costs. The maximum fine for operating under the influence is $500.

Judge Lamb said the OMV fine could be more than the $125 if the situation demands — an example being that if a driver also was charged with reckless operation and driving without a license along with the intoxication count.

New Facts on Delinquency

In anticipation that Congress will provide some funds this year for various research projects proposed to study the enigma called "juvenile delinquent," in an effort to pinpoint the best methods of curing, not combating, the anti-social behavior of teenagers, the United States Children's Bureau has issued a preliminary guide to parents.

Juvenile delinquency has been the subject of many previous studies, but as a pamphlet issued by the Children's Bureau unconsciously reveals, most of what is known about the problem concerns what not to do. Pointing to a few of the most often heard solutions — punishment for parents, recreation, curfews and employment, the bureau says:

"Punishing parents does nothing to improve the relationship between them and their child, which may have much to do with delinquent behavior. A great many parents of delinquent children seem to lack the character and emotional stability to succeed as parents, even though they want to. They need help themselves, rather than punishment."

"Research indicates that providing additional recreation facilities in an area usually does not bring about significant change in the volume of juvenile delinquency. Youngsters tending toward delinquency are seldom attracted to recreational programs which interest well-adjusted children."

"Although curfew laws have existed for many years, there is scant evidence that they are effective in reducing delinquency. A job seldom helps the emotionally disturbed delinquent. He needs individual treatment which employment cannot provide. A job may actually aggravate his problems."

This is what prior research has taught. It provides no guide as to what positive action to take. The suggestion by the bureau that the problem can best be solved by cooperative action of the citizens within each community should be taken seriously. Without necessary follow-up action by each community, efforts of the Children's Bureau and the National Institute of Mental Health will be in vain.

Remarks To Irritate a Barber

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that barbers get tired of hearing — or overhearing:

"Well, hair today—gone tomorrow, eh Tony?"

"Just a little off the top."

"The place hasn't been the same since you let in women and quit subscribing to the Police Gazette."

"If this stuff is so good, Tony, why are you so bald?"

"Who do you like in the seventh at Hialeah today?"

"Keep it high in the back. I've got a short neck."

"Never mind the stickum—just a little water."

"I came in to get my ears lowered, Tony."

"Remember when a guy could get a shave and a haircut for two bits? Those were the good old old days."

"I asked for a haircut—not a scalp."

"Just take a little off the sides."

"Who cuts your hair, Tony — you're wife?"

"Part it down the middle, Tony. My wife says every block ought to have an alley."

"If I want your political opinions I'll ask for them."

"See any gray ones up there?"

"There ought to be a special price for us baldies. I only got half the hair I used to—and you charge me four times as much."

"Why should I have to make an appointment? Are you a barber or a brain surgeon?"

"Baldness runs in my family. My uncle looked like a bowling ball at 19."

"You took off too much. How about putting a little back on?"

"What do you do with all that hair on the floor—sell it to mattress manufacturers?"

"Be careful with the mustache. It took me a year to grow it."

"How come you barbers never elected Yul Brynner man of the year?"

"What's your hair-raising story for today, Tony?"

"Save your breath, Tony. I've got my hearing aid turned off."

Comedians Should Have Gags

By George Sokolsky

There must be something about play-acting and politics which disturbs the balance of an individual. I know politicians better than I do comedians, but both suffer from this similar illness which is some kind of a social psychosis that has not yet been described in the books.

Take an upcoming politician. He is usually a good guy, an extrovert, who believes that he ought to be liked because he has never done anything to bother anybody. His task is to put his foot on the first rung of the political ladder and that requires subservience to a professional politician.

Nobody can get anywhere any other way. Some have tried it by a publicity blitz. Others have tried to be great reformers outside of practical politics but they usually die on the vine. The technical requirement is to be moved upward and onward. Many persons and groups enter into the production of a single political personality. It can truly be said that no politician is a self-made man.

However, the moment the politician arrives, he is a different man. His voice changes. It takes on the coloration of his profession. His walk grows weightier and slower. If once he was an idealist, he is now a pragmatist. His ear becomes elongated so that he can keep it to the ground and hear the tremblings before they become noticeable to the opposition.

Some politicians recover from this functional personality. They revert to their original ways, whatever they may have been, but must protect the image which they have presented to the public.

Actors used to play to small audiences, a few hundred persons who, on the whole, were predisposed to them because they paid to see and hear the actors. Great stars, like Sarah Bernhardt and Richard Mansfield, to cite two instances of the truly great, were fortunate if their audiences amounted to perhaps 1,000 persons. Few theaters existed which could hold many more.

Today, an untrained actor by a slip of fate, might be playing to 10 or 15 million persons on television.

Although this is not a select audience nor does he hear its applause, he does follow his rating which is as soothing to his soul as the 3,600 who applaud Robert Merrill in the Metropolitan Opera House. Who needs applause, if he can get a rating?

Suddenly the person to whom $100 looked like real money, even in inflationary times, is earning half a million a year which less taxes and less agents' fees, etc., is still money. He no longer depends upon the quips which brought him to fame. He now hires professional gag-writers and the word, gag, is just right for what they do to him, for "to gag" means to strangle, imitative of the sound made when choking; it also means to retch. Macaulay used the phrase: "The time was not yet come when eloquence was to be gagged, and reason to be hoodwinked."

Well, that gives you an idea of what happens to the comedian when he hires a gag-writer. He is gagged which as a verb means putting something in the mouth both to choke and silence the victim. It also has some effect on the head which becomes unbelievably swollen. This is not surprising for to have an audience of millions of hearers easily could make a person, without the balance of philosophy and the humility of religion, believe that he is a god.

The man who did most for television was no actor. Television owes its existence to such men as Edison, De Forest, Marconi, Alexanderson, Baird, Zworykin and many others who created the device. Give comedians a few years of applause and they begin to believe in their own perfection. They become imperious to criticism.

I once asked Eddie Cantor who apart from being a comedian, is also a human being, why comedians always tell the same jokes which we heard when we were 7 years old. To this he replied: "There is always somebody who is 7 years old."

It is when the comedian imagines himself a sage that he usually suffers defeat. Artemus Ward and Mark Twain did possess sagacity although they were humorists. Will Rogers was one of the greatest comedians this country ever produced. These men did not need gag-writers nor did they have audiences of millions.

"The worst part is their attendance. It's perfect!"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

JACK GLEASON and TOOTS SHOR, two famous gentlemen who tip the scales at about 550 pounds between them, once got into a long hassle over which one was the faster runner. Finally, egged on by overjoyed bystanders, they decided on a race around the block. Gleason was to run east to Fifth Avenue; Shor west to Sixth Avenue, and the one who got back to the starting point first was to win the title of "The World's Greatest Overweight Champion."

Gleason cagily hung back until Shor waddled out of sight toward Sixth Avenue, then climbed into a taxi, rode in comfort around the block, and waited for Shor to come panting home. The exhausted Shor was mortified, but conceded defeat, and treated everybody to drinks on the house. Fully 15 minutes later, however, he suddenly realized he had been tricked. "Gleason," he roared, "you are a four-flusher, a crumb bun, and a creep. How could you have run around the block? YOU NEVER PASSED ME!"

New Drugs Aid Diabetics

By Herman N. Bundesen, M. D.

Diabetics still must watch their diets very carefully. The new oral drugs for treatment of the disease are not miracle drugs and they don't cure diabetes, although they often do help.

They are a valuable adjunct to therapy in some cases of diabetes, but they don't replace insulin.

Let's take a realistic look at three diabetic drugs, tolbutamide, chloxypropamide and phenformin. The American Diabetes Association recently issued a status report on the drugs and said that, even though their usefulness might be limited now, they may prove to be the beginning of a new era in the management of the disease.

Tolbutamide was the first oral diabetes drug and was made available for prescription here in June, 1957.

The association reports that it has been found to be reasonably effective for a selected group of diabetics, chiefly middle-aged or elderly patients, who need less than 40 units of insulin a day and whose diet and weight are controlled.

The second drug, chlorpropamide, which belongs to the same chemical family, was released in November, 1958. The A.D.A. says it has real usefulness for persons who develop diabetes later in life and who in general require only small doses of insulin.

Phenformin is the third drug. It belongs to an entirely different chemical family and was made available in March, 1959.

In certain cases of diabetes it also seems to eliminate the need for insulin injections. And, according to the association's report, it appears to be active in some of the patients who are not affected by either of the other two drugs.

As far as is known, the official report says, these drugs only encourage the still active insulin-producing parts of a patient's pancreas to be more efficient and they may also inhibit the release of glucose from the liver.

The diabetic who produces little or no insulin is not likely to be helped much by these medications, according to the A.D.A. report. Neither is the diabetic whose insulin production is highly variable.

These drugs, of course, should be used only with the advice of a physician.

W. H. S.: I am a married man 59 years old and would like to know what causes me to fall into a deep sleep whenever I relax. Even at work, I find it hard to keep awake if I sit down for a few minutes.

I get eight hours of sleep at night.

It is also always well to have an annual health audit made each year.

Convicts Say Uniforms Are Not 'Authentic'

NEW YORK (AP)—There's nothing like theatrical realism—even behind bars.

So a group of acting inmates at Massachusetts State Prison in Walpole sent their order to a Broadway costume company.

Among needed items: Three convict uniforms.

"Ours aren't authentic enough," noted the ardent amateurs.

The company said today it sent off the desired garb, wanted for performance of "My Three

The World Today

By James Marlow

By BEM PRICE
For James Marlow
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—You have yet to be told the facts about this nation's defenses in relation to those of the Soviet Union and it is unlikely that you ever will be.

At the moment there is a fierce debate in and out of Congress over whether U.S. defenses are lagging.

President Eisenhower has said our military posture is adequate. In general the Republicans agree, the Democrats disagree.

What you are being given is an assortment of opinions based on individual interpretations of facts which are top secret.

A democracy supposedly functions best when the people are told the whole truth and allowed to make up their minds. This theory collapses when applied to military operations.

The military contend that to tell the people the whole truth would also inform the enemy. Thus, in the final analysis the only way the people can ever learn whether defenses are adequate is when they are tested in actual conflict.

Certain privileged congressmen and assorted high ranking members of the executive branch are given briefings on what intelligence officers believe to be the enemy's capabilities.

The defense debate arises from interpretation of the known facts and the intelligence estimates.

Intelligence work has been described as a field in which 95 per cent of the information is drawn from careful study of unclassified sources, 3 per cent from semi-covert sources and about 2 per cent from secret agents.

You may ask, then, why isn't the 95 per cent made public? The military argument is that to tell the enemy what we know is to expose either our ignorance and ineptitude, or allow him to evaluate our intelligence operations.

The enemy will know what information came from unclassified sources, what could have been obtained only from secret agents.

If the enemy learns we are over-estimating his strength he may be encouraged to gamble; that is, indulge in a bit of international blackmail.

If we are underestimating his strength and tailoring our strength to cope with what we believe to be his weak potential, he may be encouraged to attack.

In a war, intelligence officers collect information on the enemy's capabilities and leave the matter of interpretation to the commanding general. If the information is faulty the general's deduction concerning enemy intentions may be equally faulty.

Though the Japanese were clearly capable of attacking Pearl Harbor, the United States guessed wrong on their intentions in 1941.

In World War II the Germans were believed incapable of attacking through the Ardennes Forest. The Battle of the Bulge cost the Allies 80,000 casualties.

The U.S. decision to advance to the Yalu River during the Korean War was based on the belief the Chinese Communists would not intervene.

In this thermonuclear age, a wrong guess could easily be fatal.

While the facts are not available to the public, the current debate seems to be based on differences of opinion over whether the United States really is stronger than the Soviet Union and an interpretation of Soviet intentions.

Your opinion will have to be based at least partly on the answer to one question: Are you more inclined to believe Democrats or Republicans?

New Facts on Delinquency

In anticipation that Congress will provide some funds this year for various research projects proposed to study the enigma called "juvenile delinquent," in an effort to pinpoint the best methods of curing, not combating, the anti-social behavior of teenagers, the United States Children's Bureau has issued a preliminary guide to parents.

Juvenile delinquency has been the subject of many previous studies, but as a pamphlet issued by the Children's Bureau unconsciously reveals, most of what is known about the problem concerns what not to do. Pointing to a few of the most often heard solutions — punishment for parents, recreation, curfews and employment, the Bureau says:

"Punishing parents does nothing to improve the relationship between them and their child, which may have much to do with delinquent behavior. A great many parents of delinquent children seem to lack the character and emotional stability to succeed as parents, even though they want to. They need help themselves, rather than punishment.

"Research indicates that providing additional recreation facilities in an area usually does not bring about significant change in the volume of juvenile delinquency. Youngsters tending toward delinquency are seldom attracted to recreational programs which interest well-adjusted children.

"Although curfew laws have existed for many years, there is scant evidence that they are effective in reducing delinquency. A job seldom helps the emotionally disturbed delinquent. He needs individual treatment which employment cannot provide. A job may actually aggravate his problems."

This is what prior research has taught. It provides no guide as to what positive action to take. The suggestion by the bureau that the problem can best be solved by cooperative action of the citizens within each community should be taken seriously. Without necessary follow-up action by each community, efforts of the Children's Bureau and the National Institute of Mental Health will be in vain.

Courtin' Main

Unhappiest people in the world are those who have everything they want except the power to enjoy it.

Remarks To Irritate a Barber

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that barbers get tired of hearing — or overhearing: "Well, hair today—gone tomorrow, eh Tony?" "Just a little off the top." "The place hasn't been the same since you let in women and quit subscribing to the Police Gazette."

"Remember when a guy could get a shave and a haircut for two bits? Those were the good old old days." "I asked for a haircut—not a scalp." "Just take a little off the sides." "Who cuts your hair, Tony — you're wife?" "Part it down the middle, Tony. My wife says every block ought to have an alley."

"If I want your political opinions I'll ask for them." "See any gray ones up there?" "There ought to be a special price for us baldies. I only got half the hair I used to—and you charge me four times as much." "Why should I have to make an appointment? Are you a barber or a brain surgeon?" "Baldness runs in my family. My uncle looked like a bowling ball at 19."

Comedians Should Have Gags

There must be something about play-acting and politics which disturbs the balance of an individual. I know politicians better than I do comedians, but both suffer from this similar illness which is some kind of a social psychosis that has not yet been described in the books.

Take an upcoming politician. He is usually a good guy, an extrovert, who believes that he ought to be liked because he has never done anything to bother anybody. His task is to put his foot on the first rung of the political ladder and that requires subservience to a professional politician.

Nobody can get anywhere any other way. Some have tried it by a publicity blitz. Others have tried to be great reformers outside of practical politics but they usually die on the vine. The technical requirement is to be moved upward and onward. Many persons and groups enter into the production of a single political personality. It can truly be said that no politician is a self-made man.

However, the moment the politician arrives, he is a different man. His voice changes. It takes on the coloration of his profession. His walk grows weightier and slower. If once he was an idealist, he is now a pragmatist. His ear becomes elongated so that he can keep it to the ground and hear the tremblings before they become noticeable to the opposition.

Some politicians recover from this functional personality. They revert to their original ways, whatever they may have been, but must protect the image which they have presented to the public.

Actors used to play to small audiences, a few hundred persons who, on the whole, were predisposed to them because they paid to see and hear the actors. Great stars, like Sarah Bernhardt and Richard Mansfield, to cite two instances of the truly great, were fortunate if their audiences amounted to perhaps 1,000 persons. Few theaters existed which could hold many more.

Today, an untrained actor by a slip of fate, might be playing to 10 or 15 million persons on television.

Although this is not a select audience nor does he hear its applause, he does follow his rating which is as soothing to his soul as the 3,600 who applaud Robert Merrill in the Metropolitan Opera House. Who needs applause, if he can get a rating?

Suddenly the person to whom $100 looked like real money, even in inflationary times, is earning half a million a year which less taxes and less agents' fees, etc., is still money. He no longer depends upon the quips which bring him to fame. He now hires professional gag-writers and the word, gag, is just right for what they do to him. "To gag" means to strangle, imitative of the sound made when choking; it also means to retch. Macaulay used the phrase: "The time was not yet come when eloquence was to be gagged, and reason to be hoodwinked."

Well, that gives you an idea of what happens to the comedian when he hires a gag-writer. He is gagged which as a verb means putting something in the mouth both to choke and silence the victim. It also has some effect on the head which becomes unbelievably swollen. This is not surprising for to have an audience of millions of hearers easily could make a person, without the balance of philosophy and the humility of religion, believe that he is a god.

The man who did most for television was not a actor. Television owes its existence to such men as Edison, De Forest, Marconi, Alexander, Baird, Zworykin and many others who created the device. Give comedians a few years of applause and they begin to believe in their own perfection. They become imperious to criticism.

I once asked Eddie Cantor who apart from being a comedian, is also a human being, why comedians always tell the same jokes which we heard when we were 7 years old. To this he replied: "There is always somebody who is 7 years old."

It is when the comedian imagines himself a sage that he usually suffers defeat. Artemus Ward and Mark Twain did possess sagacity although they were humorists. Will Rogers was one of the greatest comedians this country ever produced. These men did not need gag-writers nor did they have audiences of millions.

LAFF-A-DAY

"The worst part is their attendance. It's perfect!"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

JACK GLEASON and TOOTS SHOR, two famous gentlemen who tip the scales at about 550 pounds between them, once got into a long hassle over which one was the faster runner. Finally, egged on by overjoyed bystanders, they decided on a race around the block. Gleason was to run east to Fifth Avenue; Shor west to Sixth Avenue, and the one who got back to the starting point first was to win the title of "The World's Greatest Overweight Champion."

Gleason cagily hung back until Shor waddled out of sight toward Sixth Avenue, then climbed into a taxi, rode in comfort around the block, and waited for Shor to come panting home. The exhausted Shor was mortified, but conceded defeat, and treated everybody to drinks on the house. Fully 15 minutes later, however, he suddenly realized he had been tricked. "Gleason," he roared, "you are a four-flusher, a crumb bun, and a creep. How could you have run around the block? YOU NEVER PASSED ME!"

New Drugs Aid Diabetics

By Herman N. Bundesen, M. D.
Diabetics still must watch their diets very carefully. The new oral drugs for treatment of the disease are not miracle drugs and they don't cure diabetes, although they often do help.

They are a valuable adjunct to therapy in some cases of diabetes, but they don't replace insulin.

Let's take a realistic look at three diabetic drugs, tolbutamide, chlopropamide and phenformin. The American Diabetes Association recently issued a status report on the drugs and said that, even though their usefulness might be limited now, they may prove to be the beginning of a new era in the management of the disease.

Tolbutamide was the first oral diabetes drug and was made available for prescription here in June, 1957.

The association reports that it has been found to be reasonably effective for a selected group of diabetics, chiefly middle-aged or elderly patients, who need less than 40 units of insulin a day and whose diet and weight are controlled.

The second drug, chlopropamide, which belongs to the same chemical family, was released in November, 1958. The A.D.A. says it has real usefulness for persons who develop diabetes later in life and who in general require only small doses of insulin.

Phenformin is the third drug. It belongs to an entirely different chemical family and was made available in March, 1959.

In certain cases of diabetes it also seems to eliminate the need for insulin injections. And, according to the association's report, it appears to be active in some of the patients who are not affected by either of the other two drugs.

As far as is known, the official report says, these drugs only encourage the still active insulin-producing parts of a patient's pancreas to be more efficient and they may also inhibit the release of glucose from the liver.

The diabetic who produces little or no insulin is not likely to be helped much by these medications, according to the A.D.A. report. Neither is the diabetic whose insulin production is highly variable.

These drugs, of course, should be used only with the advice of a physician.

The World Today

By James Marlow

By BEN PRICE
For James Marlow
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—You have yet to be told the facts about this nation's defenses in relation to those of the Soviet Union and it is unlikely that you ever will be.

At the moment there is a fierce debate in and out of Congress over whether U.S. defenses are lagging. President Eisenhower has said our military posture is adequate. In general the Republicans agree, the Democrats disagree.

What you are being given is an assortment of opinions based on individual interpretations of facts which are top secret.

A democracy supposedly functions best when the people are told the whole truth and allowed to make up their minds. This theory collapses when applied to military operations.

The military contend that to tell the people the whole truth would also inform the enemy. Thus, in the final analysis the only way the people can ever learn whether defenses are adequate is when they are tested in actual conflict.

Certain privileged congressmen and assorted high ranking members of the executive branch are given briefings on what intelligence officers believe to be the enemy's capabilities.

The defense debate arises from interpretation of the known facts and the intelligence estimates.

Intelligence work has been described as a field in which 95 per cent of the information is drawn from careful study of unclassified sources, 3 per cent from semi-covert sources and about 2 per cent from secret agents.

You may ask, then, why isn't the 95 per cent made public? The military argument is that to tell the enemy what we know is to expose either our ignorance and ineptitude, or allow him to evaluate our intelligence operations.

The enemy will know what information came from unclassified sources, what could have been obtained only from secret agents.

If the enemy learns we are overestimating his strength he may be encouraged to gamble; that is, indulge in a bit of international blackmail.

If we are underestimating his strength and tailoring our strength to cope with what we believe to be his weak potential, he may be encouraged to attack.

In a war, intelligence officers collect information on the enemy's capabilities and leave the matter of interpretation to the commanding general. If the information is faulty the general's deduction concerning enemy intentions may be equally faulty.

Though the Japanese were clearly capable of attacking Pearl Harbor, the United States guessed wrong on their intentions in 1941.

In World War II the Germans were believed incapable of attacking through the Ardennes Forest. The Battle of the Bulge cost the Allies 80,000 casualties.

The U.S. decision to advance to the Yalu River during the Korean War was based on the belief the Chinese Communists would not intervene.

In this thermonuclear age, a wrong guess could easily be fatal.

While the facts are not available to the public, the current debate seems to be based on differences of opinion over whether the United States really is stronger than the Soviet Union and an interpretation of Soviet intentions.

Your opinion will have to be based at least partly on the answer to one question: Are you more inclined to believe Democrats or Republicans?

Steel Mart Is Normal, Experts Say

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel market has returned to normal, with users placing orders to meet their production requirements, Iron Age Magazine said today.

The national metalworking weekly said steel operations at 80 per cent of capacity could be expected in the third quarter. It estimated second quarter operations at between 84 and 88 per cent.

Currently, the industry is operating close to 95 per cent of capacity.

The magazine, which originally estimated 1960 steel production at between 127 to 130 million tons, lowered its forecast to between 120 million to 125 million tons. The publication noted:

"The revised estimate is well over the previous record steel production of 117 million tons set in 1955.

"Steel consumption is still at a high rate. But because of record shipments and some business uncertainty, users are taking their time in ordering steel.

"In addition, deferrals and cutbacks in orders are becoming more frequent."

Iron Age said moderate steel inventory accumulation will continue into April or May.

Doe in Dress Shop Finally Flees to Hills

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — It wasn't a bull in a china shop but a doe in Margaret Logan's dress shop.

The frolicsome deer charged through a window Tuesday, scampered among the dresses and knocked Miss Logan down. It tried to jump through a floor-length mirror and left its hoof prints on wall-to-wall carpeting.

Finally Miss Logan opened the door. The deer returned to the nearby hills.

Steel Mart Is Normal, Experts Say

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel market has returned to normal, with users placing orders to meet their production requirements, Iron Age Magazine said today.

The national metalworking weekly said steel operations at 80 per cent of capacity could be expected in the third quarter. It estimated second quarter operations at between 84 and 88 per cent.

Currently, the industry is operating close to 95 per cent of capacity.

The magazine, which originally estimated 1960 steel production at between 127 to 130 million tons, lowered its forecast to between 120 million to 125 million tons. The publication noted:

"The revised estimate is well over the previous record steel production of 117 million tons set in 1955."

"Steel consumption is still at a high rate. But because of record shipments and some business uncertainty, users are taking their time in ordering steel."

"In addition, deferments and cut-backs in orders are becoming more frequent."

Iron Age said moderate steel inventory accumulation will continue into April or May.

Doe in Dress Shop Finally Flees to Hills

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — It wasn't a bull in a china shop but a doe in Margaret Logan's dress shop.

The frolicsome deer charged through a window Tuesday, scampered among the dresses and knocked Miss Logan down. It tried to jump through a floor-length mirror and left its hoof prints on wall-to-wall carpeting.

Finally Miss Logan opened the door. The deer returned to the nearby hills.

Interest Is Low In Pennsy Primary

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A lack-lustre primary election is in store for Pennsylvanians despite the injection of Vice President Richard M. Nixon's name, the only presidential candidate entered.

Only token opposition appeared for the organization-endorsed statewide candidates.

The statewide primary contests April 26 will center on the GOP nomination for state treasurer and the Democratic nomination for state superior court.

Nixon's name was entered by the state Republican organization about 45 minutes before the deadline Tuesday.

Columbus Man Is Held For Threatening Note

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The FBI is holding David Harley Allen, 22, of Columbus, in city prison here on a charge of sending an anonymous letter through the mails threatening the life of Mrs. Dean Wright of Columbus, and threatening to blow up her residence. He will be arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Robert W. Newlon.

Wrong Wedding

ROCKY FORD, Colo. (AP) — An out-of-town couple drove here for the wedding of a relative. Cars were parked around the First Christian Church. The couple went inside, deposited their gift in the reception room.

The bride walked down the aisle. "That's not her," the wife exclaimed. The couple departed hurriedly, finally found the wedding they planned to attend in progress at the First Methodist Church.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

He's Deaf to All Ears

DEAR ABBY: I have a brother who insists that there is nothing wrong with his hearing. But every one who knows him knows that he is very deaf.

Why doesn't he admit it and do something about it? It is so aggravating to have to yell at him and repeat everything three and four times.

When I tell him I will pay for the doctor's examination and for the hearing aid which he surely needs, he argues and insists that he can hear as well as I can. What do you do with a stubborn brother like that?

TIED OF YELLING
DEAR TIED: Until your brother is willing to admit that his hearing is defective you might as well be talking to the wall. Arrange for him to meet someone who has had a similar problem and licked it. First-hand experience will mean more to him than your constant harping. There is none so deaf as he who will not hear.

DEAR ABBY: I am a secretary with a responsible position. My boss trusts me and leaves me in charge of the office most of the time.

Lately his wife has been phoning me and telling me what to do and what not to do. My boss does not know of this. Since he has complete confidence in my ability to run the office, I feel that I should not have to take orders from her. Should I tell my boss or should I tell his wife off?

COMPETENT
DEAR COMPETENT: Listen to the boss' wife courteously when she calls you. Then use your own judgment. If trouble develops—tell your boss.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you won't think I'm an ungrateful person, but my problem is an overly generous husband. In the 12 years of our marriage, he has picked out and "surprised me with" every stick of clothing I own. He likes to surprise me by bringing home complete outfits. He'll come home and dump all the packages on the bed. He is so proud of knowing the size of my shoes, gloves, hats, hose and dresses, I hate to hurt him. His taste is good so I can't complain. But I never have the fun of shopping for myself. How can I let him know I appreciate his surprises but I'd like to go along and shop, too?

SURPRISED
DEAR SURPRISED: I am SURPRISED at YOU! Most women would be happy to have your problem. If you want the "fun" of shopping, find out HIS size and shop for him.

Do you have a problem? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this newspaper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Winter Melon Cups

Baked Fish Baked Potatoes
Broccoli with Lemon Butter
Scalloped Tomatoes Bread Tray
Coffee Gelatin Beverage

WINTER MELON CUPS
Ingredients: 3 large seedless oranges, 1 package (1 pound) mixed melon balls (cantaloupe and honeydew) packed in light syrup.

Method: Cut oranges in half crosswise; if necessary to make halves stand straight cut thin slices from bottoms. With a grapefruit knife cut out orange pulp from each orange half in one piece; dice orange, removing core. With Kitchen scissors make a series of notches in several places in edges of orange shells; keep notches shallow. Return diced orange to shells; cover and refrigerate. Just before serving have melon thawed but still frosty and top orange pulp in shells with melon, alternating the cantaloupe and honeydew colors. Makes 6 servings.

When waffle batter stops steaming it's time to lift the cover of the iron because this is usually a signal that the waffles are baked.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Anyone who wants to sit in on the Democratic National Convention, starting July 15, may do so—provided he contributes $1,000 for a pair of tickets.

A spokesman for the non-partisan host committee, which is giving the Democrats $450,000 for holding the convention in Los Angeles Memorial Sports Arena, says: there will be no deviation from the pricetag.

"The tickets will be $1,000 a pair," he said. "No one is going to get in for less."

The host committee points out the tickets are not for sale "but are being made available to people who want to make a contribution."

COMPETENT
DEAR COMPETENT: Listen to the boss' wife courteously when she calls you. Then use your own judgment. If trouble develops—tell your boss.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you won't think I'm an ungrateful person, but my problem is an overly generous husband. In the 12 years of our marriage, he has picked out and "surprised me with" every stick of clothing I own. He likes to surprise me by bringing home complete outfits. He'll come home and dump all the packages on the bed. He is so proud of knowing the size of my shoes, gloves, hats, hose and dresses, I hate to hurt him. His taste is good so I can't complain. But I never have the fun of shopping for myself. How can I let him know I appreciate his surprises but I'd like to go along and shop, too?

SURPRISED
DEAR SURPRISED: I am SURPRISED AT YOU! Most women would be happy to have your problem. If you want the "fun" of shopping, find out HIS size and shop for him.

Do you have a problem? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this newspaper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

WINTER MELON CUPS

Ingredients: 3 large seedless oranges, 1 package (1 pound) mixed melon balls (cantaloupe and honeydew) packed in light syrup.
Method: Cut oranges in half crosswise; if necessary to make halves stand straight cut thin slices from bottoms. With a grapefruit knife cut out orange pulp from each orange half in one piece; dice orange, removing core. With Kitchen scissors make a series of notches in several places in edges of orange shells; keep notches shallow. Return diced orange to shells; cover and refrigerate. Just before serving have melon thawed but still frosty and top orange pulp in shells with melon, alternating the cantaloupe and honeydew colors. Makes 6 servings.

When waffle butter stops steaming it's time to lift the cover of the iron because this is usually a signal that the waffles are baked.

Dem Parley Seats Cost $500 Each

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Anyone who wants to sit in on the Democratic National Convention, starting July 15, may do so—provided he contributes $1,000 for a pair of tickets.

A spokesman for the non-partisan host committee, which is giving the Democrats $450,000 for holding the convention in Los Angeles Memorial Sports Arena, says there will be no deviation from the pricetag.

"The tickets will be $1,000 a pair," he said. "No one is going to get in for less."

The host committee points out the tickets are not for sale "but are being made available to people who want to make a contribution."

Mothers, Housewives Double As Efficient Court Staff

The Pickaway County Probate and Juvenile Court deputy clerk staff is a prime example of the type of courthouse employee in Pickaway County.

All four members of the staff are housewives and mothers, dividing their times between home and the office. A majority of the courthouse office employees fall into this classification.

The Probate Court is one of the busiest offices in the old brick building which houses the "hub" of county activity on S. Court St.

In addition to the routine duties of bookkeeping, typing and filing, there is never a dull moment.

HAPPY MOMENTS are experienced when marriage licenses are issued and sad moments occur when a juvenile delinquent is remanded or sentenced to the Boys Industrial School.

Just last year, Mrs. Helen Pickens was attacked by a maddened mother of a juvenile delinquent when she testified against the woman and her daughter. The woman was later shot to death by her husband after an argument.

The Probate and Juvenile deputies never quite get ahead of the mass of legal documents to be processed, but regardless of the amount of work facing them, they are always available with a smile and a favor.

An excellent example of the work accomplished by the office, is last year's column of legal matters handled.

A total of 166 estates were processed. Procedures in processing estates include filing, numbering, docketing and bookkeeping. The processing of estates includes probating wills; issuing notices; taking testimony of witnesses;

APPOINTING fiduciaries, issuing inventories and letters of authority; publishing notices of estates for each case; inventories and appraisements of the estates and their publishing and approvals;

Schedules: certifying and mailing inheritance taxes to the State Department of Taxation plus reporting payments to the State and Federal Governments;

Real estate transfer certifications and applications recorded, and checking receipts and balancing accounts, plus seeing that they are published and approved.

Guardianships and trusts numbered 27, which included appointments and issuing letters of authority.

Real estate and civil actions approved and recorded were: settlement of minor claims, 8; authenticated copies of wills, 12; no administrations, 18;

Korean Conflict settlement, 1; change of name, 1; designation of heirs, 1, and sale of real estate proceedings, 45.

BIRTH registrations and corrections numbered 105. A total of 585 birth certificates were issued during 1959.

There were 34 mentally ill cases, which included issuing papers and commitments plus taking case histories.

Sixteen adoptions were investigated and approved. Marriage licenses totaled 272. This requires issuing the certificates plus sending copies of each marriage certificate to the state. A total of 119 old marriage certificates were issued.

Other duties include: issuing and certifying death certificates; recording ministers', doctors and nurses' licenses; certifying wills, old divorces and records and special numbering indexing of county legal documents.

A total of 2,105 journal entries were approved and recorded last. Total cases filed in Probate Court during 1959 numbered 390 compared to 325 in 1958.

A comparison of 1959 cases with 1958 cases in parenthesis are: estates, 166 (174); birth registrations, 70 (60); correction of births, 35 (21);

MENTALLY ill, 34 (21); guard-

ianships, 27 (22); no administration, 18 (11); adoptions, 16 (9); settlement of minor's claims, 8 (5); tuberculosis, 1(1);

Designations as heir - in - laws, 1 ;Korean Conflict compensation, 1; change of name, 1; authenticated copy of wills, 12, and there was one case of legitimization in 1958.

The Probate Court, as well as in other offices, is experiencing an increase of work load each year due to the increase in population here and the added paper work forced upon counties by state and federal agencies.

Most local attorneys consider the Probate Court deputies invaluable to their work. Many complicated legal matters and proceedings are considerably lessened by a quick answer from one of the clerks.

Chief deputy is Mrs. Kenneth Riegel, Route 3, who comes as close to qualifying as an expert in Probate Court matters as Judge Guy G. Cline himself.

She is assisted by two parttime deputies. They are Mrs. James I. Smith, 1235 S. Court St., and Mrs. Dan Grubb, 134 Rosewood Ave. Fulltime assistant is Mrs. E. D. Wood, 126 Pleasant St.

MRS. RIEGEL has two sons; Mrs. Smith has two daughters, and two sons; Mrs. Grubb has two daughters and a son, and Mrs. Wood has a son and daughter.

In addition to raising families and keeping their houses, these four women run one of the most efficient offices in the county. If you don't think so, ask any attorney.

Presley Says He Will Keep His Old 'Style'

BAD NAUHEIM, Germany (AP)—Elvis Presley says there won't be any change in his singing style when he returns to civilian life shortly.

"I've no reason to change," the rock 'n' roll idol and Army sergeant said in an interview Tuesday. "The people will let you know when you should."

Presley's two-year service hitch ends next month, but the Army isn't giving the exact date. It wants to avoid a repetition of the teen-age riot that greeted the singer on his arrival in Germany 17 months ago.

Elvis, now 24, said he is glad to be getting out but quickly added, "It was a good experience in many ways and I made friends I would not have made otherwise. I'm very proud of having been in the Army."

The Army apparently is satisfied with Elvis, too. "He has done remarkably well both his Army duties and off duty," said one of his commanders.

Presley has been serving with an armored division at Friedberg. He recently won his sergeant's stripes and was made leader of a scout squad.

Although he made no records in Germany, Presley said he kept abreast of music developments. "My friends in the states sent me clippings and the latest recordings to let me know what's going on back home," he explained.

He said he plans to go home to Memphis, Tenn. and make some records. About April 20 he will go to Hollywood to rehearse for an appearance on Frank Sinatra's TV show May 1. Then he will begin pre-recording for a movie, "The GI Blues."

State Bank Examiner Is On Suspension

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—State Commerce Director John W. Bush has suspended a bank examiner accused by police of charge account frauds.

Suspended from his job in the Personal Loans Division of the department was David B. Williams, 34, of Martins Ferry. He is held without charge by authorities here.

Bush said he was ready to suspend Williams in connection with another affair, when Akron police arrested him. Investigators in Akron said Williams got credit information on various individuals as part of his job, then used their names to order clothing and other merchandise.

Bush said Williams was earmarked for suspension for allegedly using his state job in an effort to get loans from three small loan companies in the Canton - Akron area, where he has been working since December.

One company did lend Williams some money, Bush said, but two others refused.

Bush said Williams is a college graduate in accounting who had been working in the accounting department of the Mohawk Rubber Co. in Akron. He joined the Commerce Department last October and received $380 a month.

Williams was being held in Summit County Jail in default of $5,000 bond.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pork takes over the featured spot on many meat counters this week, with frozen pork stocks 40 per cent greater than a year ago.

Pork loins head the list of week-end specials. In New York they are down as much as 16 cents a pound from a week ago and in Washington they are down 10 cents.

Other featured pork includes shoulders, smoked shank and slice bacon.

Beef round roast and frying chickens also are among the specials. Prices of fryers are generally down.

Leg of lamb prices are up somewhat. Butter and egg prices fluctuated.

Along the Eastern seaboard fish is featured in variety, including swordfish steaks, lobster tails, smelts, halibut steaks and scallops.

Best buys among vegetables covered a wide field — cabbage, carrots, endive, escarole, lettuce, small and medium yellow onions, eastern potatoes, sweet potatoes and turnips.

In the good-buy classification are beets, broccoli, pascal celery, mushrooms, cooking greens, green peppers and avocados.

These items are expensive: Florida snap beans, corn, chinese cabbage, eggplant and squash; California cauliflower, broccoli rabe from North and South Carolina, Western artichokes and asparagus, Cuban cucumbers and vine-ripened tomatoes from Florida, Cuba and the Bahamas.

Top bargains in fruit are Florida grapefruit and oranges, California oranges, Eastern apples and bananas.

Churchill's Daughter Is Sued for Divorce

LONDON (AP)—Aviation Minister Duncan Sandys has filed suit for divorce from Sir Winston Churchill's daughter Diana, court records disclosed today.

Mr. and Mrs. Sandys were married in 1935 and have been living apart since January 1957. They have a son and two daughters.

The minister's petition was placed on a list of cases which the divorce court has been advised will not be contested.

Sandys is 52. His wife, Sir Winston's eldest daughter, is 50.

State Bank Examiner Is On Suspension

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—State Commerce Director John W. Bush has suspended a bank examiner accused by police of charge account frauds.

Suspended from his job in the Personal Loans Division of the department was David B. Williams, 34, of Martins Ferry. He is held without charge by authorities here.

Bush said he was ready to suspend Williams in connection with another affair, when Akron police arrested him. Investigators in Akron said Williams got credit information on various individuals as part of his job, then used their names to order clothing and other merchandise.

Bush said Williams was earmarked for suspension for allegedly using his state job in an effort to get loans from three small loan companies in the Canton - Akron area, where he has been working since December.

One company did lend Williams some money, Bush said, but two others refused.

Bush said Williams is a college graduate in accounting who had been working in the accounting department of the Mohawk Rubber Co. in Akron. He joined the Commerce Department last October and received $380 a month.

Williams was being held in Summit County jail in default of $5,000 bond.

Pork takes over the featured spot on many meat counters this week, with frozen pork stocks 40 per cent greater than a year ago.

Pork loins head the list of week-end specials. In New York they are down as much as 16 cents a pound from a week ago and in Washington they are down 10 cents.

Other featured pork includes shoulders, smoked shank and slice bacon.

Beef round roast and frying chickens also are among the specials. Prices of fryers are generally down.

Leg of lamb prices are up somewhat. Butter and egg prices fluctuated.

Churchill's Daughter Is Sued for Divorce

LONDON (AP)—Aviation Minister Duncan Sandys has filed suit for divorce from Sir Winston Churchill's daughter Diana, court records disclosed today.

Mr. and Mrs. Sandys were married in 1935 and have been living apart since January 1957. They have a son and two daughters.

The minister's petition was placed on a list of cases which the divorce court has been advised will not be contested.

Sandys is 52. His wife, Sir Winston's eldest daughter, is 50.

A kiwi bird, found in New Zealand, has no wings.

Along the Eastern seaboard fish is featured in variety, including swordfish steaks, lobster tails, smelts, halibut steaks and scallops.

Best buys among vegetables covered a wide field — cabbage, carrots, endive, escarole, lettuce, small and medium yellow onions, eastern potatoes, sweet potatoes and turnips.

In the good-buy classification are beets, broccoli, pascal celery, mushrooms, cooking greens, green peppers and avocados.

These items are expensive: Florida snap beans, corn, chinese cabbage, eggplant and squash; California cauliflower, broccoli rabe from North and South Carolina, Western artichokes and asparagus. Cuban cucumbers and vine-ripened tomatoes from Florida, Cuba and the Bahamas.

Top bargains in fruit are Florida grapefruit and oranges, California oranges, Eastern apples and bananas.

Sheriff's Activities in '59 Cover Broad Field of Work

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department completed another busy year during 1959.

A yearly report compiled by Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff and his staff listed the department's extensive operations for the year. Activity ranged from investigating a fatal plane crash to checking the discovery of an Indian skull.

Investigating 458 vehicle accident was one of the largest phases of work for the sheriff and staff. Six persons were killed in these crashes and 371 others were injured. The sheriff said 166 persons were arrested in connection with the accidents.

The greatest traffic violation was drivers failing to have assured clear distance ahead. This offense brought 35 arrests.

Another frequent violation was drivers operating motor vehicles under the influence of intoxicants. The department cited 33 motorists for this infraction. Another 28 drivers were arrested for reckless operation.

Another top responsibility of the department was the handling and feeding of 864 prisoners confined in the jail. The prisoners were served a total of 29,247 meals at a cost of $10,704.90.

The prisoner meals were prepared and served under the direction of Mrs. Sadie Radcliff, the sheriff's wife who serves as jail matron and head cook. She is assisted by Mrs. Ethel Brintlinger.

The department received 2,100 complaints on problems of various nature. Of this total, 384 required written reports.

Investigation of all complaints is handled by Sheriff Radcliff and his outside staff of three deputies.

Radcliff recently completed 29 consecutive years as sheriff of Pickaway County. He commonly is known as the "Dean of Ohio Sheriff's" and ranks near the top in the nation for years of service.

THE popular local lawman recently filed his petition as a candidate for sheriff in the May 3 primary election.

Looking back at events in 1959, Sheriff Radcliff cited the apprehension and conviction here of two New York dope addicts as one of the department's top cases for the year. The fatal shooting of a mother of six children by her husband was another case requiring extensive study.

The outside deputies all are veteran lawmen. Heading the staff is Dwight Radcliff, the sheriff's son, who has six years with the department. Robert W. Hoover has four years service and Charles N. Feikney has been with the force more than three years.

Homer L. Adams and Marion Hoover serve as night jailers and radio dispatchers. One works from 4 p. m. to midnight and the other is on duty from midnight to 8 a. m.

Mrs. Helen Strous handles the records and bookkeeping tasks. She is a veteran of seven years and a vital cog in the department's operations.

Sheriff Radcliff is assisted by 46 members of the Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff's Assn., a volunteer group of auxiliaries trained and equipped to assist in any emergency.

THE auxiliaries provide a second man to ride with regular deputies on patrol duty. In 1959 these volunteers were on duty 321 nights and worked a total of 2,568 hours. Each receives $1 per year for their services.

Last year department personnel traveled an estimated 135,000 miles in serving the people of Pickaway County. This service included transporting legal papers, answering complaints on prowlers and burglars, cat and dog bites, homicides, fatal auto accidents, single fender-bender mishaps and the fatal aircraft crash.

The sheriff said he feels that his department is obligated to answer all complaints. He said that if Pickaway County residents decide a complaint is worth reporting, then it is worth investigating.

According to the report, the local department was provided the best of equipment during 1959 by the Pickaway County Board of Commissioners. In service were two marked 1959 model cruisers and one unmarked 1959 auto. Present plans call for purchase of new cruisers this year to replace the cars with 50,000 miles or more. One new car was delivered this week.

Deputies noted that safe and up to date equipment is essential. They said minutes seem like hours when help is needed in emergency situations at far points in the county.

A complete photography program is another service provided by the department. All crimes, accidents, homicides and other complaints were photographed as necessary and processed by deputies.

THE model photo laboratory is located in the basement of the jail, with Deputy Dwight Radcliff in charge.

The sheriff also is charged with accepting and authorizing pay for bounty claims. The county paid bounty on 141 foxes killed in 1959, the total amounting to $282.

Burglary investigations was one of the most demanding phases of work here during the year. The sheriff and his staff investigated 39 such cases and made 22 arrests. There were 30 petit larceny cases and seven arrests in connection with these violations. Eight investigations were made on grand larceny complaints.

Checks were made on 23 building or dwelling fires, 23 cases of auto parts larceny and 22 reports of vandalism.

Additional investigations and activity included: suspicious autos, 13; merch runs, 7; vehicle fires, 9; suspicious persons, 10; property damage, 13; accidental deaths, 6; juvenile complaints, 13; gasoline thefts, 7; animal bites, 3; cattle thefts, 6; malicious destruction of property, 1; female forced from car, 1; auto theft reports, 11; recovered stolen autos, 10; suspicious phone calls, 2; suspicious letters, 1; attempted gang fights, 1; corn theft, 1; injury reports, 6; suicides, 3; attempted suicides, 4.

ACCIDENTAL shootings, 3; suspicious autos, 13; recovered lost property, 2; recovered stolen property, 4; attempted rape, 2; livestock killing, 3; domestic trouble, 6; stray shooting, 1; prowlers, 2; molestings, 3; lost articles, 2; homicides, 1.

Strike escorts, 5; unarmed robberies, 3; disturbances, 4; contributing, 2; accidental prisoner injuries, 3; missing persons, 11; natural deaths, 5; assaults, 2; concealed weapons, 1; electricutions, 1; recovered stolen safe, 1; conversion of autos, 3.

Summons served, 377; notices served, 206; subpoenas served, 84; indictments served, 75; capias served, 38; executions, 78; contempt citations, 7; garnishments, 64; failure to pay, 2; carbon monoxide poisoning, 1; reports for other departments, 12; dog thefts, 1; dogs molesting livestock, 1; indecent exposure, 2; recovered Indian skull, 1.

Yellowbud Band Plans To Reorganize

The Yellowbud Community Band is scheduled to hold its first rehearsal and reorganization meeting, at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the MWA Hall at Yellowbud.

The band has been inactive since appearing in the Halloween parade, in Chillicothe last fall.

This band is made up of volunteers from three counties. There are no territorial limits to membership. Any man or boy with an instrument is invited and welcome to join, either as a full time or part time member.

All money received by this band is used to buy uniforms and music, with any balance divided equally among members according to their performances with the band for the year.

THE band opens its season May 1, at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Chillicothe, at the Veterans Hospital Day Parade. It appears at practically all homecomings and county fairs, including the Circleville Pumpkin Show and Jackson Apple Festival.

The band needs and will welcome any instrument. Anyone interested may contact Clem Rittinger, 410 N. Scioto St., or Ed. Bennett, Box 518, Kingston or come to Yellowbud any Tuesday evening after March 1.

Paris has a population of 2,850,000.

Responsibility of Parents Key to Cub Scouting Plan

CUB PROJECT — Seen above are members of Den 6 of Cub Pack 170, sponsored by the Lutheran Church, as they develop a project at their weekly meeting in the home of Den Mother, Mrs. Walter Gilmore, 216 W. Mill St. From left to right, they are: John Brobst, Philip Diehl, Steve Gilmore, Mike Hulse, Jeffrey Spalding and Paul Tassler. They are experimenting with chemical gardens as a part of science month, the theme for the month.

By T. JAMES HYDE
(Third of a series on Cub Scouting)
First, Dad, let's look at the important role you play in your cub scout's life.

Not all dads are required to serve as den and pack leaders. However, if you are asked to serve in some leadership capacity, do your best to accept and carry out the responsibility.

Your boy could not have a Cub Scouting experience if it were not for the time and the effort being invested by your neighbors.

Perhaps you will be asked to serve as a den dad or a member of a Pack Committee. This need not completely upset your life, just as it is not upsetting the lives of your neighbors. By distributing the responsibility among many people,

State Action Said Unneeded In Rail Probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Utilities Commission has been advised there is nothing for it to do in connection with the Jan. 10 train derailment at Wellington which killed four persons.

But the three commissioners could disagree with the report which they received from the commission's Railroad Department. Among other things, it says:

"There was no evidence of neglect or violation of state law over which this commission has jurisdiction."

The New York Central passenger train was headed for Cleveland when the wreck occurred. Engineer Henry W. Kirstein was fired last Friday "for his responsibility as developed by . . . investigations."

Included in the Railroad Department's report are these conclusions:

"The evidence adduced at the hearing did not disclose any defects in the functioning of the brakes when application was made." (The engineer was quoted by authorities as saying the brakes apparently weren't working properly.)

"The only defective piece of equipment was the lead diesel unit . . . that piece of equipment was the speedometer, which became inoperative in the area between Selma and Parker City, Ind., approximately 80 miles west of Bellefontaine, Ohio."

"Signal indications were properly set and were not disputed."

Estimated population of New foundland is 300,000.

WE ARE NOT all leaders and there are other important things you can do to help. First, you can meet your obligations to your own boy. You should attend the monthly pack meetings. He has worked all month and you should be there to present him the badges of the awards he earns. These are the high points of his Cub Scout experience.

Don't be surprised if your boy brings home certain projects to finish between den meetings. He looks to you, Dad, to give him guidance in these. The den activities are designed to stimulate this type of activity.

Often the den will be preparing for a special stunt or demonstration at the pack meeting. Your boy will need help from you if he is to do his best in these activities.

Mother, don't think that Cubbing is a program for only boys and their fathers. Perhaps we've given such strong emphasis to Dad's part because it's a natural tendency for dads to "let mother do it."

Cub Scouting can become a very natural part of your family life. Dad and son can work together and mom can add her talents for well rounded family fun.

Again, not every mother will be a Den Mother but you can help her to work with your boy by rendering her any service she may need. She is busy as you are, probably a mother, and needs your help and cooperation. Many Den Mothers are struggling along without help or assistance, so why not offer her your services.

THERE ALSO is the fact that the Den Mother sees a side of your boy's life that you cannot see. You see him only when he is home. There are times that he can assist the Den Mother helping your boy by cooperating fully with her in any problem that may arise.

You can help the Den Mother at times by providing her with transportation, aiding in the procurement of craft material and many "little" things that need doing in a den.

As we said before, to dad, the den activities are designed to hold over from the den meeting to the home. Your boy depends on you for help in doing those projects and activities. There are costumes to make, models to build, stories to learn — all so your son and his den can make their contribution to the pack meeting.

Now, Mother and Dad, probably you are asking yourselves the question, "Who pays for Cub Scouting?" Chances are that the pack operates under a pack thrift plan, with each boy paying dues into the pack treasury.

Since the dues are minimal, it should not be surprising to discover that they do not cover all the expenses of the pack. Keep in touch with the Den Mother to make certain that she is not having to contribute her money — in addition to the time and effort she gives to buy materials for your boy's work in Cub Scouting.

Just as your son's weekly den dues' contribution helps finance your pack's operation, so your annual contribution to the local community chest or the individual finance drive of the Boy Scout Council makes it possible for your area to have the services of a professional Scouter, your leaders to receive training and program helps from the council and other special services.

PROBABLY ONE of the first things that your son will want is a Cub Scout uniform. Why? Well, it shows that he belongs. The uniform identifies him with a national movement of more than two million cubs and leaders.

Of course it is possible to be the finest kind of Cub Scout without owning a uniform. However, when a Cub wears the uniform — and of course we mean all of it — it helps keep him mindful of the Cub Scout ideals — the promise and the Law of the Pack.

The uniform is something special and your son will want to wear — and proudly so — the badges he has earned and you will be proud to sew them on or teach him to do so.

So you see, Mother and Dad, these are the basic responsibilities that you have as Cub Scout parents. These are the joys, the trials, the achievements that your boy can and should have in Cub Scouting.

Defense Suggests Finch Guilty, but Not Carole

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Carole Tregoff's attorney has painted a hypothetical picture suggesting her surgeon lover could be guilty of murdering his wife but that Carole is innocent.

Some observers saw the lawyer's imaginary anecdote for the jury Wednesday—in which he did not mention Dr. R. Bernard Finch by name—as a last-ditch effort to save Carole even at the doctor's expense.

But defense lawyers insisted there was no break in their ranks.

The defense took over final arguments after a prosecutor declared the lovers hoped to solve their financial and romantic problems with "one shot in the back" of Mrs. Finch.

The 42-year-old society surgeon and his 23-year-old mistress are charged with murdering his wife, Barbara Jean, 36, outside the Finch estate in suburban West Covina last July 18.

Carole's counsel, Robert A. Neeb, who resumes his summation today, began by citing a hypothetical example that paralleled circumstances of the slaying:

"Supposing that I — somebody perhaps I knew — had a tenant in a store and he wanted me to take him there and I agree.

"And supposing I furnish the automobile. Let us suppose I furnish the gasoline. Maybe I took him to dinner.

"Maybe I lent him some money, and I drove him to the scene of the place, and when I did, I knew that he was mad at his tenant, and they were having trouble. And he told me he was going to have it with the tenant.

"And supposing he had a paper bag with him somewhere in my car and he said, 'Now, here we are. Let's go in. I'm going to have trouble with this fellow.' And he says, 'Bring the paper bag in.' "And I bring it in, and he gets into an argument — he gets into an altercation, and maybe it turns out there is a weapon in the bag, and the tenant gets shot.

"Am I guilty of murder? No, I am not, because I didn't have a knowledgeable, intentional participation in the event which was unlawful.

"You have to answer this question in this case, as far as Carole Tregoff is concerned.

"Unless you believe . . . that when the car was moving from Las Vegas to West Covina . . . Carole Tregoff had in her mind an intent to kill, she is entitled to an acquittal of the charge of murder in this case."

Finch and Miss Tregoff drove in her car from Las Vegas, Nev., to the Finch house the night of the slaying. They say they went there to discuss a divorce with Mrs. Finch. The doctor testified the gun discharged accidentally as he tried to throw it away after snatching it from his wife.

Carole testified she carried the doctor's attaché case, called a "murder kit" by the prosecution, from the car to the Finch house because it contained a flashlight the doctor wanted. Finch says the case, containing a carving knife, hypodermics, sleep-inducing drugs and other items, was one he was preparing for use on emergency calls.

President Andrew Jackson was born in 1767 in Waxhaw, a tiny pioneer village on the North Carolina — South Carolina border.

Stark Vice Probe To Cost $75,000

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Investigation into reported gambling and vice in Stark County is going to cost the state at least $75,000.

Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy has already received $50,000 for the investigation, and has asked for another $25,000. Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, who asked for the probe, has approved this latest request, but it still needs approval from the emergency board.

The attorney general's office hopes to obtain indictments in the Canton area as a result of the special grand jury investigation. More than 40 people have been called for testimony.

The governor is known to consider the Stark County investigation especially important since the outcome may decide the direction of future efforts of his administration to eliminate racketeering in the state.

U.S. Treasury Bonds Selling Rather Slowly

Investors Put Cash In Other Forms of Revenue-Producers

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Savers are still in the saddle and the U. S. Treasury is coming off second best in its competition with other forms of investment for their business.

Few think that interest rates are likely to drop significantly or that easy money is likely to replace tight for some time. So the rivalry is still unabated.

To halt the increase in redemptions of Series E and G Savings Bonds and the drop in their sales, a House committee is proposing to eliminate the legal limit on the amount of interest the Treasury can pay to holders.

But the President already has power to raise interest rates now being paid. Yet the Treasury has made no move to do so. Instead it is planning a drive to get employers to step up promotion of payroll savings plans in their plants.

The argument is that, higher interest rates elsewhere or no, the Savings Bond is still the safest risk in the nation, especially for the little investor.

The Treasury has power to lift these rates now because last year Congress raised the rate limit to 4 1/4 from its former 3 3/4 per cent. The Treasury then set the present 3 3/4 per cent rate, hoping that would halt redemptions and increase sales.

But last month sales trailed the year-ago figure again, while redemptions topped it.

The lure to savers from other sources is just too tempting. Mutual savings banks and many commercial banks have lifted the rates they pay depositors. Savings and loan associations have lifted their payments by varying degrees across the country. Some on the West Coast go as high as 4 1/4 per cent.

Many bonds yield five per cent or more and the Treasury itself went after the individual saver with a highly successful five per cent offer.

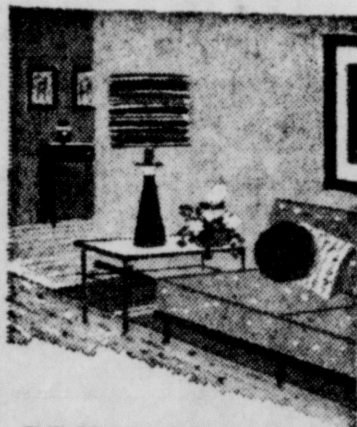

Yields have gone so high because money has been kept tight to discourage a new outburst of inflation, and credit often has been hard to come by.

The money market eased in the first weeks of the year, as it usually does. But there has been some stiffening of interest rates in recent days. Demand for business loans finally has begun to rise again. That helps keep money tight.

Fears of further inflation have been considerably allayed. But few expect the money managers to loosen the credit strings much unless another recession begins taking shape.

The West Coast's offering of highest interest rates doubtless reflects the need for funds in fast-growing communities. And that is where you'll find the largest savings and loan associations, with their close ties to the home-mortgage market.

Other than the valley areas, most of Syria receives about four inches of rain a year.

Ashville, Williamsport Get Berths In Pickaway Tournament Finals

Broncos Edge Darby, 61-57

Walters, Liff Push Hoover and Company

Ashville roared into the finals of the Pickaway County Basketball Tournament last night in search for its 15th crown but was extended to extremes before downing Darby, 61-57, on the County Coliseum court.

The game little Trojans trailed throughout the first three periods, but took a final quarter three-point lead and came within minutes of making that margin count.

Darby tied the score at the third quarter mark at 52-52, then took a 55-52 edge on Tommy Walters four-circle field goal and Tony Tufano's free throw.

Stalling just a "shade" too early, the Trojans attempted to play a waiting game and it backfired in the last three minutes.

BOBBY HOOVER, sitting out for nearly the entire second and third periods with four personals, came off the bench to dunk four straight free throws and a turn-around jump shot to shove his Broncos into a 58-55 lead that stood up under a last second onslaught by Darby.

Predicted to have an easy time of it on a larger court after a narrow season escape, 78-72, in an overtime, Ashville ran smack into a "whipping buzz-saw" in the hands of Walters and Tommy Liff who all but won the game between them.

They finished the night with 43 of Darby's 57 points and outplayed Ashville on the floor. Walters was sensational from 20 to 25 feet out on his leaping jump shots and Liff kept his squad poised and steady, plus contributing nine field goals for 18 markers.

Walters scorched the nets for 11 of 22 field goal attempts and three for three from the foul line. Ashville's 2-2-1 defense, with Hoover or his replacement, Dale Fout under, couldn't halt Darby's floor game.

Darby out-scored Ashville from the floor, 24-18, but was unseated at the charity line where Ashville held the commanding edge, 25-9. The Trojans were called on 23 personals to Ashville's 14.

The Derby quietest lost Jerry Vance and Tufano via the foul route. This same difficulty almost wrote the Broncos off as a finalist when Hoover got in trouble early in the second quarter and Coach Russell Gregg benched him for a spell.

THE TROJANS held their own on the bankboards until the final period when Hoover, Rathburn and Gaines finally began working as a team.

Darby battled Ashville on even terms during the early part of the first quarter until the Broncos broke an 11-11 tie to spur ahead, 19-13, at the quarter point.

Ashville zoomed to the front in the second period to, as much as 10 points, but two final-second ball thefts by Lynn Sheets and Tufano left the score at 37-29 at halftime, in favor of the orange and black.

Darby, for the most part, used a full court man-to-man press on Ashville and it not only rattled the Broncos coming up court but threw off their timing into the pivot, which is considered Ashville's main attack point.

Hoover grabbed nine points during the first half and Gaines notched his entire point total during these two periods with nine markers.

Phil Reese, Ashville's dependable guard, dropped through six valuable points for his evening's contribution. Walters hit for 11 first half points and Liff followed with eight.

THE THIRD quarter was all Darby as Ashville saw its eight-point lead dwindle to a 52-52 tie at the end of the stanza. Walters led the surge with eight points and Liff added 10 for 18 of Darby's 23 third stanza points.

Ashville was making defensive mental errors and the Darby twins capitalized on every one. Not only were Walters and Liff outstanding offensively, but defensively they were magnificent. They were certainly everybody's All-Ohio last night to the more than 2,400 capacity crowd.

The final period went scoreless for nearly four minutes after Darby's three-point spurge. Then Hoover proved his All-Ohio capabilities with a six-point outburst that was capped by Rathburn's three anti-climatic charity tosses.

The score read 59-55 and 23 seconds left when Walters tipped a two-point. An ensuing foul ended all Darby hopes.

It was Rathburn who held the Broncos together when Hoover sat out and his 11 points came when Ashville needed his support. Both teams displayed a strong bench as Fout and Reese came on in relief to keep Ashville's attack rolling.

Need Reichelderfer's Trojans received fine play from Lynn Sheets, Ross Meyers, Roger Drummond and Tufano. The cage

County Title Up for Grabs In Friday Night's Finale

The finals and consolation games of the Pickaway County Basketball Tournament start at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the County Fairgrounds Coliseum and if they are anything like the semifinals the fans will certainly get their money's worth.

Last night's battles saw two contests that either team could have one with a single break going its way. Darby outplayed Ashville from the floor but lost at the foul line, where it was outscored 25-9 as Ashville reeled off victory No. 19 — 61-57.

Salt Creek gave Williamsport fits and forced it into an overtime before falling before David Myers and company, 67-65.

Tomorrow night's consolation tilt pits Darby (12-7) against the aggressive Salt Creek Warriors (9-9).

The championship begins at 9 p.m. between Ashville (19-2) and Williamsport (15-6), the two teams with the best records in the county.

DARBY gets the nod to be the squad to represent the county in the central district basketball tourney, which starts Monday in the Denison Fieldhouse, Granville.

The Trojans "terrible two-some" of Tommy Walters (22.8) and Tommy Liff (19.7) have been in rare form during the tourney and there is no reason to expect them to stop when the chips are down for the final count.

Salt Creek collapsed against Deercreek last night in his final period, but wrote this off to inexperience. The Warriors are well-balanced and will be ready to capitalize on any Trojan misake, which were few last night. Darby won the league season contest, 63-55, on the Warriors court, which is no small feat in itself.

Ashville, after its 15th tourney title is an odds on favorite to do just that. The Broncos have maintained their poise throughout two gritty battles and continued to win even though they lost ace, Bobby Hoover (21.2), last night on fouls for nearly two quarters.

Ashville has too much height under the bankboards, a prominent weak point in the Williamsport offense. But the Deers Myers (24.7) played fine ball last night and led the evening's scorers with 31 markers one under Hoover's 1960 tourney record of 32. The Deers will be seeking their second tourney title.

Deers Victors In Overtime

Steady Warriors Bow in 67-65 Tilt

Williamsport turned a delirious crowd into a roaring mass by coming from behind to down valiant Salt Creek, 67-65, in an overtime last night at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

A capacity crowd of fans, already made limp by a thrilling Ashville-Darby battle in the first game of the evening, shook the Coliseum rafters before the smoke cleared in the second test.

Williamsport's Nick Stonerock, out most of the season with an operation, rang up four foul shots in the overtime to lead the way for the Deers' entry into the championship finals Friday against Ashville.

The regulation test ended in a 61-61 deadlock. The sturdy Warriors of Salt Creek led the hotly contested game until the final stages.

WITH 34 seconds remaining, Stonerock smacked a bucket from down under to knot the count at 61-61 which lasted until the buzzer sounded.

Salt Creek led by as much as 11 points early in the fourth quarter only to see the game become tied up, 59-59, on David Myers' two foul shots with 1:27 remaining. Little Bob Willey, a replacement, almost was the hero of the night as he calmly stepped to the foul line a few seconds later to sink two free throws and give Salt Creek a 61-59 edge.

Stonerock then broke the game wide open with his tie-making bucket from underneath.

With the overtime seconds clicking away, Stonerock poured in three charities and Myers promptly dribbled almost the length of the floor after grabbing a jump ball for a vital layup.

Denny Valentine, an aggressive player all night, cracked through for a Salt Creek layup to make it 66-63. Only 32 seconds remained when Stonerock again walked to the foul line to connect for a point.

As the final buzzer was about to sound, Damon Fox dropped one in from underneath for Salt Creek's last desperate effort. Then the game came to an abrupt end and Coach Glen Chester's Williamsport force had its berth in the game for the championship.

MYERS', the county's leading scorer, was Williamsport's fair-haired boy with 31 points, many of them coming in the clutch when it appeared that Salt Creek was going to make a route of the game.

Teammate Stonerock ended with 13, with the emphasis placed on his four foul tosses in the overtime. Chubby David Humphrey sparked Williamsport's outside attack with four long ones and a foul shot for nine points.

Coach Wayne Evans' Warriors dominated most of the game due mainly to aggressive play and a balanced scoring combination. Leading the onslaught was Valentine, a solid southpaw competitor who ended with 16 points.

Three more Warriors hit in double figures. George Clifton captured 12 points, eight of them at the foul line. Chuck Spangler

Bowling Green Cager Nears Record although BGs Lose

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Jimmy Darrow, Bowling Green basketball, gunned in 36 points Wednesday night and now needs just 12 to break the Mid-American Conference record for a single season. He figures to get them Saturday when the Falcons entertain Marshall in their league finale.

Darrow also closed in on Al Bianchi's B-G season scoring record (1953-54) of 600. The 5-11 senior sharpshooter has 599 in 21 games, a 28.5 average, and three games left.

Oh yes, Bowling Green lost the game, to Western Michigan 87-85. But that's been the story quite often this season; despite Darrow's heroics the Falcons are only 5-6 in the MAC and have lost 13 of 21 over-all.

Dayton, which had been cold recently, and Xavier, which had been hot, tangled and the Flyers quickly switched the faucets. The result: Dayton 91, Xavier 82, ending a six-game winning string for the Musketeers (17-7). That put a crimp in X's hopes of joining Dayton as a National Invitation Tourney contestant.

Billy Kirvin got 28 points for Xavier, but Joe Kennelly and Bill Cramsey each caged 22 for the winners.

In an all-Cleveland scrap, John Carroll shellacked Western Reserve, 109-65, to all but cinch the Presidents' Conference title. The Blue Streaks, 8-1 in the loop, need only to beat another Cleveland rival, Case, Saturday to leave second-place Wayne out of reach and claim their third PAC title in three years.

Fading Toledo traveled to Philadelphia to absorb a 74-52 whipping from Villanova's nationally 12th-ranked Wildcats. Both teams now show 18-5 records.

Other action for Ohio collegians included a 91-78 victory by Rio Grande over Detroit Tech, a 72-57 verdict for Central State over Bluffton, and a 70-66 loss for Steubenville to St. Vincent at Latrobe, Pa.

FROM the time Warrior Spangler opened scoring with a drive and Williamsport's Eddie Ater retaliated to swish a jump shot, the action was lively and the outcome in doubt.

With Spangler, Valentine, Hart and Clifton all getting into the act, Salt Creek bounced to a 11-7 lead as the first quarter ended. Williamsport stayed in the running on Ater's shot, a bunny by Myers and a basket and a foul shot by Gordon Russell.

The Deers gained poise in the second quarter to knot the count 12-12, then again at 17-17 behind three foul losses and a bucket by Myers, single goals by Humphrey and Bob Reese and a charity by Russell. Salt Creek then opened up to take a 33-25 lead at halftime behind four straight foul shots by Clifton and buckets by Hart and Valentine.

Salt Creek reached a 10-point margin, 42-32, about midway in the third quarter when Fox netted two foul tosses. The Warriors remained ahead, 51-42, at the three-quarter mark.

The Warriors stretched their advantage to 11 points early in the final quarter, 55-44, but at this point Williamsport fashioned a counterattack which was not to fail.

With the score reading, 59-55, in favor of Salt Creek, Myers spearheaded things with four straight foul throws to deadlock the count.

AS TIME was close at hand for the curtain to close, Willey popped two free tosses for Salt Creek to a 61-59 lead. This set the stage for Stonerock's deadlocker from underneath.

Both teams played it cautious in the overtime, but Stonerock took advantage of Warrior fouls and Myers zoomed down the floor all alone for his layup.

The overflow crowd at the Coliseum witnessed all and more than ton as a National Invitation Tourney contestant.

Laker Owner Hints Move To California

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bob Short, owner of the Minneapolis Lakers, today called on the National Basketball Assn. board of governors to decide the future of his club.

Short, whose Lakers are financially troubled because of small home crowds, brought the matter before the board which assembled at a special meeting to fix playoff dates.

"We may move the club to Los Angeles, but not the ownership," Short said. "Anything can happen."

A club move requires approval of six of the eight members of the board of governors.

Meanwhile, Maurice Podoloff, president of the NBA, said the tentative date for the start of the playoffs is March 12. Games will be played Saturdays, Sundays, Tuesdays and Thursdays depending on availability of home sites.

In both the East and West divisions the second and third place teams will meet in the best of three series with the winners playing the first place clubs in a best of seven series. The divisional winners will clash in a best of seven for the world championship, won by Boston last year.

Bonaventure Gets Tougher

Brother Pair Leads Team to 13th Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS St. Bonaventure keeps building one of college basketball's top winning streaks while establishing Tom and Sam Stith as the most prolific brother pair on the court.

With Tom Stith nailing 29 points, including two clutch fielders in the last 80 seconds, and brother Sam Stith adding 16, the Bonnies raced to their 13th straight Wednesday night — a 76-70 squeaker over tough Duquesne.

Now 16-3 and 10th-ranked nationally, the Bonnies have only to negotiate Niagara, St. Vincent (Pa.) and Canisius to carry a string of 16 into the NIT opening March 10.

Tom a 6-5 junior, has a 31.8 average while Sam, a 6-2 senior and a brilliant playmaker, is averaging 19.5 — a brother pace of 50.3. The NCAA service bureau's records show only four high scoring brother acts in the last 25 years with Johnny and Eddie O'Brien of Seattle the record family pair with a combined 45.1 per-game average in 1953.

Villanova and Dayton, slumping NIT teams, added victories while St. Joseph's (Pa.) and Kansas State built their credentials toward NCAA tournament berths in the night's other important games.

Villanova broke a three-game losing string and built its record to 18-4 with a 74-52 rout of Toledo of the Mid-American Conference. Dayton (17-6) also snapped a string of three losses and severed Xavier of Ohio's six-game win streak, 91-82.

St. Joseph's (17-5) tied idle LaSalle for the Middle Atlantic Conference lead at 6-1 with an effortless 83-63 whipping of Bucknell and can clinch the title with its extra game — against Lafayette next week. Kansas State, after its third straight Big Eight Conference championship and NCAA berth, thumped co-leader Kansas 68-57, dumping the Jayhawks into a three-way second place tie with Colorado and Oklahoma. The Sooners joined the company Wednesday night, beating Oklahoma State 59-53.

Top Big Ten Teams Show Top Accuracy

CHICAGO (AP)—Field goal accuracy keynotes the top three basketball teams in the Big Ten—unbeaten Ohio State (11-0), second-place Indiana (8-3) and third-place Minnesota (8-4).

All are hitting at better than the record .431 percentage set by Ohio State in 1957, official conference statistics show. Red-hot OSU has a .501 clip, Indiana .451 and Minnesota .489.

The Buckeyes also are maintaining their record team scoring pace with a 92.7 average, but they have dropped from the defensive leadership. Minnesota has moved up as the best defensive team, yielding 69.8 points a game. Ohio State's yield is 70.2.

Rebounding honors still go to Michigan State with a 53.3 average on 640 rebounds in 12 games, with Horace Walker grabbing 216 or one-third of them.

With Purdue's Terry Dischinger and Ohio State's Jerry Lucas standing 1-2 in the scoring race, a sophomore appears likely to win the crown for the first time since Indiana's Don Schlundt did it in 1953 with a 25.5 average.

U.S. Olympic Hockey Team Says Hopes Grow Stronger

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Sweden's resounding upset tie of the Soviet Union's defending hockey champions has restored some zip to the Winter Olympics. It pointed up today's clash between America's dark-horse forces and Canada's beefed-up sextet.

"With a break we could go all the way," said Jack Riley of Army, the coach of the Yank puck-chasers. "We have hopes of knocking off the Russians. We beat Canada in 1956 and maybe we can do it again."

The Americans, who trounced Germany 9-1 for their second second straight victory Wednesday, had decisively beaten Sweden 6-3 in the first round of the round robin tournament. Canada whaled Czechoslovakia 4-0 after Sweden's sextet held the Soviets to a 2-2 draw.

It was the first time in Olympic competition that the Soviet skaters had to settle for less than a win. They went unbeaten four years ago, whipping both Canada and the U.S.A.

The host team takes on Canada at 6:30 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time). In the other games the Soviets play Germany at 4 p.m. and Sweden faces Czechoslovakia at 9 p.m. The other playoff matches of the tourney will be played Saturday, when the Yanks meet the Soviets, and Sunday, when the Soviets and Canada collide.

Bill Cleary, 25-year-old Boston insurance man and veteran of the 1956 Olympic team, scored four goals, three of them on solo dashes, and received credit for two assists in the rout of Germany. Nils Nilsson, a 23-year-old salesman, blasted the two goals that earned Sweden the tie.

Hockey was taken over as the major lure here as the Soviets battle was held up for more than five minutes at one point when the floor became extremely slippery, forcing the outside doors to be opened to evaporate the misty court.

ASHVILLE hit 33.9 per cent for the contest, notching 18 of 53 attempts. It hit a strong 44.4 per cent in the initial half, but fell to a meager 23.1 second half percent as it was held to six field goals.

Darby held a 38.2 first half percentage but came back with a high 47.8 second half mark to finish the game with 24 of 57 for 42.1 per cent.

The costly foul line, where Darby missed three one-and-one situations, saw Ashville connect on 25 of 37 for 67.6 per cent compared to Darby's 9 of 18 for 50 per cent.

Ashville committed 16 turnovers to Darby's 15. The Broncos had 11 assists to the Trojans' five. Rathburn and Hollenback were tops in assists with four each. Vance had two for Darby.

The loss dropped Darby to a 12-7 slate and moved the Trojans into the consolation contest against Salt Creek (9-9) scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Friday.

Meanwhile, Ashville was rolling to win No. 19 against two losses. It was the Broncos 12th win in a row. It will meet Williamsport (16-6) at 9 p. m. for the tourney championship.

continue to roll up their overwhelming point score in the unofficial team race. The Soviets, with five gold medals, have 120 points. Germany is second with 52½ points, the U.S.A. third with 44 and Sweden fourth with 39.

In the two finals Wednesday, the Soviets collected their fifth gold medal on Eugen Grishin's world-record equalling 40.3-second performance in the 500-meter speed skating, and Austria, the stronghold of Alpine skiing, finally won its first championship.

Ashville, Williamsport Get Berths In Pickaway Tournament Finals

Broncos Edge Darby, 61-57

Walters, Liff Push Hoover and Company

Ashville roared into the finals of the Pickaway County Basketball Tournament last night in search for its 15th crown but was extended to extremes before downing Darby, 61-57, on the County Coliseum court.

The game little Trojans trailed throughout the first three periods, but took a final quarter three-point lead and came within minutes of making that margin count.

Darby tied the score at the third quarter mark at 32-32, then took a 55-52 lead on Tommy Walters four-circle field goal and Tony Tufano's free throw.

Stalling just a "shade" too early, the Trojans attempted to play a waiting game and it backfired in the last three minutes.

BOBBY HOOVER, sitting out for nearly the entire second and third periods with four personals, came off the bench to dunk four straight free throws and a turn-around jump shot to shove his Broncos into a 58-55 lead that stood up under a last second onslaught by Darby.

Predicted to have an easy time of it on a larger court after a narrow season escape, 78-72, in an overtime, Ashville ran smack into a "whipping buzz-saw" in the hands of Walters and Tommy Liff who all but won the game between them.

They finished the night with 43 of Darby's 57 points and outplayed Ashville on the floor. Walters was sensational from 20 to 25 feet out on his leaping jump shots and Liff kept his squad poised and steady, plus contributing nine field goals for 18 markers.

Walters scorched the nets for 11 of 22 field goal attempts and three for three from the foul line. Ashville's 2-2-1 defense, with Hoover or his replacement, Dale Fout under, couldn't halt Darby's floor game.

Darby out-scored Ashville from the floor, 24-18, but was unseated at the charity line where Ashville held the commanding edge, 25-9. The Trojans were called on 23 personals to Ashville's 14.

The Derby quintet lost Jerry Vance and Tufano via the foul route. This same difficulty almost wrote the Broncos off as a finalist when Hoover got in trouble early in the second quarter and Coach Russell Gregg benched him for a spell.

THE TROJANS held their own on the bankboards until the final period when Hoover, Rathburn and Gaines finally began working as a team.

Darby battled Ashville on even terms during the early part of the first quarter until the Broncos broke an 11-11 tie to the sport ahead, 19-13, at the quarter point.

Ashville zoomed to the front in the second period to, as much as 10 points, but two final-second ball thefts by Lynn Sheets and Tufano left the score at 37-29 at halftime, in favor of the orange and black.

Darby, for the most part, used a full court man-to-man press on Ashville and it not only rattled the Broncos coming up court but threw off their timing into the pivot, which is considered Ashville's main attack point.

Hoover grabbed nine points during the first half and Gaines notched his entire point total during these two periods with nine markers.

Phil Reese, Ashville's dependable guard, dropped through six valuable points for his evening's contribution. Walters hit for 11 first half points and Liff followed with eight.

THE THIRD quarter was all Darby as Ashville saw its eight-point lead dwindle to a 52-52 tie at the end of the stanza. Walters tied the surge with eight points and Liff added 10 for 18 of Darby's 23 third stanza points.

Ashville was making defensive mental errors and the Darby twins capitalized on every one. Not only were Walters and Liff outstanding offensively, but defensively they were magnificent. They were certainly everybody's All-Ohio last night to the more than 2,400 capacity crowd.

The final period went scoreless for nearly four minutes after Darby's three-point spurge. Then Hoover proved his All-Ohio capabilities with a six-point outburst that was capped by Rathburn's three anti-climatic charity tosses.

The score read 59-55 and 23 seconds left when Walters tipped a two-pointer. An ensuing foul ended all Darby hopes.

It was Rathburn who held the Broncos together when Hoover sat out and his 11 points came when Ashville needed his support. Both teams displayed a strong bench as Fout and Reese came on in relief to keep Ashville's attack rolling.

Ned Reichelderfer's Trojans received fine play from Lynn Sheets, Ross Meyers, Roger Drummond and Tufano. The cage

County Title Up for Grabs In Friday Night's Finale

The finals and consolation games of the Pickaway County Basketball Tournament start at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the County Fairgrounds Coliseum and if they are anything like the semifinals the fans will certainly get their money's worth.

Last night's battles saw two contests that either team could have one with a single break going its way. Darby out-played Ashville from the floor but lost at the foul line, where it was out-scored 25-9 as Ashville reeled off victory No. 19 — 61-57.

Salt Creek gave Williamsport fits and forced it into an overtime before falling before David Myers and company, 67-65.

Tomorrow night's consolation tilt pits Darby (12-7) against the aggressive Salt Creek Warriors (9-9).

The championship begins at 9 p.m. between Ashville (19-2) and Williamsport (15-6), the two teams with the best records in the county.

DARBY gets the nod to be the squad to represent the county in the central district basketball tourney, which starts Monday in the Denison Fieldhouse, Granville.

The Trojans "terrible two-some" of Tommy Walters (22.8) and Tommy Liff (19.7) have been in rare form during the tourney and there is no reason to expect them to stop when the chips are down for the final count.

Salt Creek collapsed against Deer Creek last night in his final period, but wrote this off to inexperience. The Warriors are well-balanced and will be ready to capitalize on any Trojan misake, which were few last night. Darby won the league season contest, 63-55, on the Warriors court, which is no small feat in itself.

Ashville, after its 15th tourney title is an odds on favorite to do just that. The Broncos have maintained their poise throughout two gritty battles and continued to win even though they lost ace, Bobby Hoover (21.2), last night on fouls for nearly two quarters.

Ashville has too much height under the bankboards, a prominent weak point in the Williamsport of fense. But the Deers Myers (24.7) played fine ball last night and led the evening's scorers with 31 markers one under Hoover's 1960 tourney record of 32. The Deers will be seeking their second tourney title.

Deers Victors In Overtime

Steady Warriors Bow in 67-65 Tilt

Williamsport turned a delirious crowd into a roaring mass by coming from behind to down valiant Salt Creek, 67-65, in an overtime last night at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

A capacity crowd of fans, already made limp by a thrilling Ashville-Darby battle in the first game of the evening, shook the Coliseum rafters before the smoke cleared in the second test.

Williamsport's Nick Stonerock, out most of the season with an operation, rang up four foul shots in the overtime to lead the way for the Deers' entry into the championship finals Friday against Ashville.

The regulation test ended in a 61-61 deadlock. The sturdy Warriors of Salt Creek led the hotly contested game until the final stages.

WITH 34 seconds remaining, Stonerock smacked a bucket from down under to knot the count at 61-61 which lasted until the buzzer sounded.

Salt Creek led by as much as 11 points early in the fourth quarter only to see the game become tied up, 59-59, on David Myers' two foul shots with 1:27 remaining. Little Bob Willey, a replacement, almost was the hero of the night as he calmly stepped to the foul line a few seconds later to sink two free throws and give Salt Creek a 61-59 edge.

Stonerock then broke the game wide open with his tie-making bucket from underneath.

With the overtime seconds clicking away, Stonerock poured in three charities and Myers promptly dribbled almost the length of the floor after grabbing a jump ball for a vital layup.

Denny Valentine, an aggressive player all night, cracked through for a Salt Creek layup to make it 66-63. Only 32 seconds remained when Stonerock again walked to the foul line to connect for a point.

As the final buzzer was about to sound, Damon Fox dropped one in from underneath for Salt Creek's last desperate effort. Then the game came to an abrupt end and Coach Glen Chester's Williamsport force had its berth in the game for the championship.

MYERS', the county's leading scorer, was Williamsport's fair-haired boy with 31 points, many of them coming in the clutch when it appeared that Salt Creek was going to make a route of the game.

Teammate Stonerock ended with 13, with the emphasis placed on his four foul tosses in the overtime. Chubby David Humphrey sparked Williamsport's outside attack with four long ones and a foul shot for nine points.

Coach Wayne Evans' Warriors dominated most of the game due mainly to aggressive play and a balanced scoring combination. Leading the onslaught was Valentine, a solid outpaw competitor who ended with 16 points.

Three more Warriors hit in double figures. George Clifton captured 12 points, eight of them at the foul line. Chuck Spangler

U.S. Olympic Hockey Team Says Hopes Grow Stronger

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Sweden's resounding upset tie with the Soviet Union's defending hockey champions has restored some zip to the Winter Olympics. It pointed up today's clash between America's dark-horse forces and Canada's beefed-up sextet.

"With a break we could go all the way," said Jack Riley of Army, the coach of the Yank puck-chasers. "We have hopes of knocking off the Russians. We beat Canada in 1956 and maybe we can do it again."

The Americans, who trounced Germany 9-1 for their second straight victory Wednesday, had decisively beaten Sweden 6-3 in the first round of the round robin tournament. Canada whaled Czechoslovakia 4-0 after Sweden's sextet held the Soviets to a 2-2 draw.

It was the first time in Olympic competition that the Soviet skaters had to settle for less than a win. They went unbeaten four years ago, whipping both Canada and the U.S.A.

The host team takes on Canada at 6:30 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time). In the other games the Soviets play Germany at 4 p.m. and Sweden faces Czechoslovakia at 9 p.m. The other playoff matches of the tourney will be played Saturday, when the Yanks meet the Soviets and Canada collide.

Bill Cleary, 25-year-old Boston insurance man and veteran of the 1956 Olympic team, scored four goals, three of them on solo dashes, and received credit for two assists in the rout of Germany. Nils Nilsson, a 23-year-old salesman, blasted the two goals that earned Sweden the tie.

Hockey was taken over as the major lure here as the Soviets battle was held up for more than five minutes at one point when the floor became extremely slippery, forcing the outside doors to be opened to evaporate the misty court.

ASHVILLE hit 33.9 per cent for the contest, notching 18 of 53 attempts. It hit a strong 44.4 per cent in the initial half, but fell to a meager 23.1 second half percent as it was held to six field goals.

Darby held a 38.2 first half percentage but came back with a high 47.8 second half mark to finish the game with 24 of 57 for 42.1 per cent.

The costly foul line, where Darby missed three one-and-one situations, saw Ashville connect on 25 of 37 for 67.6 per cent compared to Darby's 9 of 18 for 50 per cent.

Ashville committed 16 turnovers to Darby's 15. The Broncos had 11 assists to the Trojans' five. Rathburn and Hollenback were tops in assists with four each. Vance had two for Darby.

The loss dropped Darby to a 12-7 slate and moved the Trojans into the consolation contest against Salt Creek (9-9) scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Meanwhile, Ashville was rolling to win No. 19 against two losses. It was the Broncos 12th win in a row. It will meet Williamsport (16-6) at 9 p.m. for the tourney championship.

continue to roll up their overwhelming point score in the unofficial team race. The Soviets, with five gold medals, have 120 points. Germany is second with 52½ points, the U.S.A. third with 44 and Sweden fourth with 39.

In the two finals Wednesday, the Soviets collected their fifth gold medal on Eugeni Grishin's world-record equalling 40.3-second performance in the 500-meter speed skating, and Austria, the stronghold of Alpine skiing, finally won its first championship.

Ernst Hinterseer, a 27-year-old Austrian farmer and a last-minute replacement for one of his nation's disappointing aces, made two trips down the tricky 67-km K722 mountain course in a total of 2:08.9 to beat his countryman, 20-year-old Hias Leitner, by 1.4 seconds in the men's slalom. The 1,935-foot course dropped 708 feet.

Grishin, a 28-year-old Army lieutenant, stumbled on his last turn but still managed to equal his world record and Olympic winning time of 1956. Bill Disney, 27-year-old rug cleaner from Alhambra, Calif., was second in 40.3 seconds. Grishin's teammate, Rafael Grach, won the bronze medal in 40.4.

Dick McDermott of Essexville, Mich., was seventh in 40.9 and Eddie Rudolph of Northbrook, Ill., tied for tenth in 41.2.

In the slalom, the Americans wound up this way: 9th, Tom Corcoran, Beaconsfield, Quebec, 2:14.7 and 37th, Frank Brown, Charles Ferries, Houghton, Mich., originally finished 12th in 2:18.2, but was disqualified. Jim Barrier, of Kalispell, Montana, failed to finish the second run. He had 1:13.4 for the first descent.

There was no hope at all for the Yankees in today's two championship events—the men's 40-kilometer 24.85 miles cross-country relay race and the men's 5,000-meter speed skating.

Norway and Sweden were favored over Finland and the Soviets in the ski race.

The Soviets were expected to go on another point spree in the speed skating. They have copied four of the five speed skating titles decided so far—three of them by the Soviet girls.

David Jenkins, world champion from Colorado Springs, Colo., slightly trailed Czechoslovakia's Karl Divin, the 1958-9 European king, and Alain Giletti, France's reigning European titlist, after the completion of the first three compulsory figures of the men's figure skating championship.

At the end of three figures, Divin, not in Jenkins' free-skating class, had 415 points; Giletti 403; Jenkins 400.2; Don Jackson of Canada 392.0; Tim Brown of Berkeley, Calif., 389.9; and Robert Brewer of Alhambra, Calif., 380.5.

Jenkins and the hockey team were the only American possibilities to add to the one gold medal earned by figure skating queen Carol Heiss of Ozone Park, N.Y.

Bowling Green Cager Nears Record although BGs Lose

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jimmy Darrow, Bowling Green basketball, gunned in 36 points Wednesday night and now needs just 12 to break the Mid-American Conference record for a single season. He figures to get them Saturday when the Falcons entertain Marshall in their league finale.

Darrow also closed in on Al Bianchi's B-G season scoring record (1953-54) of 600. The 5-11 senior sharpshooter has 599 in 21 games, a 28.5 average, and three games left.

Oh yes, Bowling Green lost the game, to Western Michigan 87-85. But that's been the story quite often this season; despite Darrow's heroics the Falcons are only 5-6 in the MAC and have lost 13 of 21 over-all.

Dayton, which had been cold recently, and Xavier, which had been hot, tangled and the Flyers quickly switched the faves. The result: Dayton 91, Xavier 82, ending a six-game winning string for the Musketeers (17-7). That put a crimp in X's hopes of joining Dayton as a National Invitation Tournament contestant.

Billy Kirvin got 28 points for Xavier, but Joe Kennelly and Bill Cramsey each caged 22 for the winners.

In an all-Cleveland scrap, John Carroll shellacked Western Reserve, 109-65, to all but clinch the Presidents' Conference title. The Blue Streaks, 8-1 in the loop, need only to beat another Cleveland rival, Case, Saturday to leave second-place Wayne out of reach and claim their third PAC title in three years.

Fading Toledo traveled to Philadelphia to absorb a 74-52 whipping from Villanova's nationally 12th-ranked Wildcats. Both teams now show 18-5 records.

Other action for Ohio collegians included a 91-78 victory by Rio Grande over Detroit Tech, a 72-57 verdict for Central State over Bluffton, and a 70-66 loss for Steubenville to St. Vincent at Latrobe, Pa.

and Bob Hart were solid assistants with 10 each. The foul line played a vital part in the contest. Salt Creek fired for 21 of 35, but Williamsport managed only 19 of 42.

Field shooting averages were about equal. Williamsport hit 24 of 66 for 36.3 per cent and Salt Creek was a shade better with 22 of 59 for 37.2 per cent.

FROM the time Warrior Spangler opened scoring with a drive and Williamsport's Eddie Ater retaliated to swish a jump shot, the action was lively and the outcome in doubt.

With Spangler, Valentine, Hart and Clifton all getting into the act, Salt Creek bounced to a 11-7 lead as the first quarter ended. Williamsport stayed in the running on Ater's shot, a bunny by Myers and a basket and a foul shot by Gordon Russell.

The Deers gained poise in the second quarter to knot the count 12-12, then again at 17-17 behind three foul tosses and a bucket by Myers, single goals by Humphrey and Bob Reese and a charity by Russell. Salt Creek then opened up to take a 33-25 lead at halftime behind four straight foul shots by Clifton and buckets by Hart and Valentine.

Salt Creek reached a 10-point margin, 42-32, about midway in the third quarter when Fox netted two foul tosses. The Warriors remained ahead, 51-42, at the three-quarter mark.

The Warriors stretched their advantage to 11 points early in the final quarter, 55-44, but at this point Williamsport fashioned a counterattack which was not to fail.

With the score reading, 59-55, in favor of Salt Creek, Myers spearheaded things with four straight foul throws to deadlock the count. AS TIME was close at hand for the curtain to close, Willey popped two free tosses for Salt Creek for a 61-59 lead. This set the stage for Stonerock's deadlocker from underneath.

Both teams played it cautious in the overtime, but Stonerock took advantage of Warrior fouls and Myers zoomed down the floor all alone for his layup.

Bonaventure Gets Tougher

Brother Pair Leads Team to 13th Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS St. Bonaventure keeps building one of college basketball's top winning streaks while establishing Tom and Sam Stith as the most prolific brother pair on the court.

With Tom Stith nailing 29 points, including two clutch fielders in the last 80 seconds, and brother Sam Stith adding 16, the Bonnies raced to their 13th straight Wednesday night — a 76-70 squeaker over tough Duquesne.

Now 16-3 and 10th-ranked nationally, the Bonnies have only to negotiate Niagara, St. Vincent (Pa.) and Canisius to carry a string of 16 into the NIT opening March 10.

Tom a 6-5 junior, has a 31.8 average while Sam, a 6-2 senior and a brilliant playmaker, is averaging 19.5 — a brother pace of 50.3. The NCAA service bureau's records show only four high scoring brother acts in the last 25 years with Johnny and Eddie O'Brien of Seattle the record family pair with a combined 45.1 per-game average in 1953.

Villanova and Dayton, slumping NIT teams, added victories while St. Joseph's (Pa.) and Kansas State built their credentials toward NCAA tournament berths in the night's other important games.

Villanova broke a three-game losing string and built its record to 18-4 with a 74-52 rout of Toledo of the Mid-American Conference. Dayton (17-6) also snapped a string of three losses and severed Xavier of Ohio's six-game win streak, 91-82.

In Memoriam

She is gone but not forgotten.
Mrs. Louise Brannon was born July 8, 1914 in Harrison Twp., a daughter of John W. and Clara Upperman Brannon and departed this life February 16, 1960. She was married to Daniel Brannon. In addition to the husband she is survived by six sons, Lloyd and William, members of the U. S. Air Force, Donald, Joe, Terry and Victor of the home; two daughters, Mrs. Phyllis Kint with her husband in the U. S. Air Force in Virginia, and Mrs. Patricia Boggs of Columbus; three grandchildren, two brothers, Willard Seymour of Circleville, and Kenneth Seymour of Mt. Sterling; three sisters, Mrs. Dorothy O'Connor, Mrs. Betty Seymour both of Williamsport, and Mrs. Maxine Currier, Chillicothe and a step-mother, Mrs. Cora Seymour, R.F.D., Circleville.
Louise was an attendant at the Kearns Nursing Home for several years and we feel that she will be greatly missed by relatives and friends.

1. Card of Thanks

In the midst of our sorrow, the loss of our dear husband and father, Benford Millar, we cannot forget our many friends and relatives, who through their kindness and sympathy, helped to ease our grief. To them we extend our most sincere thanks.
Mrs. Benford Millar and Sons

We wish to offer our sincere thanks and our heartfelt gratitude to the Deffenbaugh Funeral Home, Rev. Hill, Sheriff's Department, relatives, neighbors, and friends for their services and expression of sorrow at the loss of our beloved Mother.

Kingston News Report

By Miss Margaret Thomas
Phone NI 2-3495

Mrs. Paul Hankins, president of the Kingston Methodist Church Woman's Society of Christian Service, wishes to announce that arrangements have been made for a guest speaker at the March meeting. The guest will be Mrs. Marion Dawson of Washington, C. H. who is our District Secretary of Supply work.

The afternoon meeting will be preceded by a cooperative dinner in the Social Room of the church (March 9). It is hoped that everyone will be there at 11:30 a. m.

Mrs. Harry Sims was called to her home town Chatterbox, W. Va., by the serious illness of her niece, Mrs. Doris Curry.

Mrs. Sims left Sunday morning to go by train from Chillicothe.

On Sunday, March 6, the Wesleyan Foundation Glee Club from Ohio University will be here to sing, at the worship service. They will be at Salem Methodist church for their morning service at 10 o'clock and then at the Kingston Methodist service at 11 o'clock.

MISS LINDA Wilson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Wells Wilson, was the honor guest at a miscellaneous shower on Sunday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Frank Graves. Mrs. Graves was assisted by her daughter, Miss Sidney Graves, a student at Ohio State University.

Miss Wilson is the bride elect of Mr. Larry Beougher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Judson Beougher of Salt Creek Twp. They have selected March 19 as their wedding date.

Guests at the party were the honor guest and her mother, Mrs. Wells Wilson; her sisters, Katie and Lois Wilson; Mrs. Howard Boggs; Mrs. Vera Miller and daughter, Linda; Mrs. Curtis Bower and daughter, Janet; Mrs. George Miller and daughter, Joyce; Mrs. Gerald Patrick; Mrs. Willard England; Mrs. Vinton Dorsey; Mrs. Philip Wilson and daughter, Nancy; Mrs. Charlie Boldosier and daughters, Joyce and Betty; Miss Connie Musselman; Mrs. Ronald Driesbach, and Mrs. Gerald Leeth.

Gifts were also sent by Mrs. Eugene Kerns and Mrs. Don Minor, who could not be present.

Gifts were placed on a table decorated in aqua and pink. Several games were played. The prizes going to the guest of honor. A dessert course was served to guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Dane Patrick are spending a two-weeks vacation in sunny Florida. They report that they escaped the snow.

They expect to spend some time with Mrs. Patrick's uncle, Mr. Will Davis and his daughter, Miss Iida. Also they will look up the Leo Smiths at Jupiter, Fla.

The "Rays of the Star" Circle of the Kingston Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, met in the Masonic Temple, Wednesday with all except one member present.

The president, Joan Lemley conducted the short business session. The members decided to omit the March meeting and meet April 6 at the home of Mrs. Fred Schiff.

THE REMAINDER of the evening was spent practicing for initiatory work.

Mrs. Walter Parker served delicious cherry pie, ice cream, mints, and coffee.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bower, Mrs. John Bright and son, Johnny left Wednesday for Carthage, Mo., to spend a few days with Johnny's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bright.

Upon their return, Mrs. Bright will again be employed at the Kingston Bank in place of Mrs. Getchell, who is ill.

Cub Pack 205 Holds Banquet

Cub Pack 205 held its Jubilee Banquet last evening in the Presbyterian Church.

The program opened with the Pledge of Allegiance under the direction of Charles Hull, leader. Members sang a song led by Bob Strawser, Bruce Bell and Doyle Painter, den chiefs.

Members of Den 2 received a two year service pin and the den was awarded a trophy for attendance. Den 2 Cubes awarded Lion Badges were Terry Hull, Brad Marshall, Jeff Clifton, Tom Goeller, Greg Griffith, Gary Hartman, Jack Varble and Dale Reinhard.

Members of Den 3 were accepted into the pack. Wolf Badges were received by Billy Adkins, Greg White, Leo Porebski Jr., William Huber, John Schroeder, Mike Yates and Danny Radcliff.

Den 4 members received a one year service pin except Greg Lambert who was awarded a two year pin. Bear Badges were given to Ricky Compton, Brock Bell, Dave Yate, Phil Hines Jr., Jack White and Dick Carothers.

Those receiving Arrow Points were Ricky Compton, gold and silver; Gary Hartman, gold and silver; and Danny Radcliff, gold.

Following the program members were shown a movie on the origin and growth of the E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Company.

Ironton Jury Sought For Murder Hearing

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Only seven jurors have been tentatively seated from 122 prospects questioned for duty in the first-degree murder trial of Billy Joe Schaffer. Opposition to capital punishment excused 110 of those questioned.

The 24-year-old ex-convict is accused of the 1958 strangling of Mrs. Emma Remy, his former school teacher, in a 28-cent robbery. Authorities say he admitted the strangling and setting fire to her house.

Cleric Seeks Apology from Pennsy College

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The Rev. Rex Humbard says he will demand a public apology from Allegheny College for a demonstration by students which he said made him cut short a religious service in the college fieldhouse Monday night.

"If we do not receive a public apology from the college, I will lay the blame for the indoctrination of the students against us on the president and other officials of the college," said the Rev. Mr. Humbard, who is responsible for building the vast Cathedral of Tomorrow in Cuyahoga Falls. The cathedral has no denomination affiliation.

The normally two-hour service was cut in half when students rolled on the floor, whistled, shouted and played cards, the minister said. He said other students touched off firecrackers outside and burned crosses.

Dr. Lawrence L. Pelletier, Allegheny president, said in a statement:

"Obviously, Mr. Humbard's views as expressed in a 30-minute sermon were not acceptable to an appreciable number of students in attendance. As president of Allegheny College, I would support the right of the students to maintain their point of view. By like reasoning similar courtesies should have been extended to Mr. Humbard."

Pelletier said reports on the disturbance were exaggerated.

John D. Rockefeller reportedly refused to argue with people if they did not agree with him.

Much Medical Progress Made In Fight against Heart Ills

Progress in the fight against the heart diseases is the encouraging note in this year's Heart Fund campaign.

Medical spokesmen of the Central Ohio Heart Assn., are agreed that our investment in heart research during the past dozen years has paid record dividends, and that increased contributions will bring even greater rewards.

Thanks to heart research, which has developed new means of diagnosis, prevention and treatment, lives are being saved today that would have been written off as hopeless just a decade ago.

According to heart authorities, it is now possible to inject an opaque fluid into the heart and, for the first time, fluoroscopically watch the muscle in action. The new procedure reveals defects that might not otherwise be detected.

SPECIFIC pressures in some of the chambers of the heart, another important factor in accurate diagnosis, now can be measured with the help of a catheter — a thin tube painlessly passed into the heart through an arm vein.

A new electronic device, the vectorcardiograph, now traces the course of the heart's electrical energy on a fluorescent screen from which photographs and motion pictures can be made for detailed study.

Veteran American physicians are continually amazed by the new speed, ease and accuracy of biological and chemical analyses that were beyond their reach before the age of advanced electronics.

New knowledge about the use of antibiotics makes it possible today to control seven out of ten cases of a disease which infects the lining of the heart and which previously was almost always fatal.

The prompt use of "strep"-killing drugs is preventing initial attacks of rheumatic fever, frequent forerunner of rheumatic heart disease, and protecting rheumatic fever victims from repeat attacks which further damage heart valves.

New drugs to retard blood clotting have helped physicians in recent years to treat the complications of "heart attack" in many instances. Still other drugs now effectively control most cases of high blood pressure.

PHENOMENAL progress has been made in the field of cardiovascular surgery. Abnormalities present in the heart at birth now can be corrected in many cases. Valves that have been scarred and damaged by rheumatic heart disease can often be repaired.

Defective arteries and heart valves can now be replaced with plastic substitutes. Even the aorta, the main artery supplying blood to the brain and to the heart itself, can be repaired successfully with the aid of newly perfected mechanical oxygenators which substitute temporarily for the heart and lungs during surgery.

Many of these great advances in the fight against the heart diseases — our nation's Number One health enemy — were speeded by scientists working under American Heart Assn. grants which have totaled more than $40 million in the past decade.

More than $860,000 has been channeled into research by the Central Ohio Heart Association. This year, the Association has allocated $162,452.76 to research at Central Ohio universities and hospitals.

There is still much to be done in controlling the heart disease problem, however, but the prospects are promising. How promising is well indicated by the prophecy of Dr. Paul Dudley White, Dr. Howard B. Sprague and other heart experts that, within the foreseeable future, "if research can be continued and expanded, we can markedly reduce heart disease among young and middle-aged persons."

The growth of your Heart Association's research, education and community service programs is in your hands. It depends upon your contributions to the Heart Fund. We urge you to help convert a heartening prophecy into reality by giving as liberally as you can to the Heart Fund campaign.

Guests at the party were the honor guest and her mother, Mrs. Wells Wilson; her sisters, Katie and Lois Wilson; Mrs. Howard Boggs; Mrs. Vera Miller and daughter, Linda; Mrs. Curtis Bower and daughter, Janet; Mrs. George Miller and daughter, Joyce; Mrs. Gerald Patrick; Mrs. Willard England; Mrs. Vinton Dorsey; Mrs. Philip Wilson and daughter, Nancy; Mrs. Charlie Boldosier and daughters, Joyce and Betty; Miss Connie Musselman; Mrs. Ronald Driesbach, and Mrs. Gerald Leeth.

Gifts were also sent by Mrs. Eugene Kerns and Mrs. Don Minor, who could not be present.

Several games were played. The prizes going to the guest of honor. A dessert course was served to guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Dane Patrick are spending a two-weeks vacation in sunny Florida. They report that they escaped the snow.

They expect to spend some time with Mrs. Patrick's uncle, Mr. Will Davis and his daughter, Miss Ida. Also they will look up the Leo Smiths' at Jupiter, Fla.

The "Rays of the Star" Circle of the Kingston Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, met in the Masonic Temple, Wednesday with all except one member present.

The president, Joan Lemley conducted the short business session. The members decided to omit the March meeting and meet April 6 at the home of Mrs. Fred Schiff.

THE REMAINDER of the evening was spent practicing for in-itory work.

Mrs. Walter Parker served delicious cherry pie, ice cream, mints, and coffee.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bower, Mrs. John Bright and son, Johnny left Wednesday for Carthage, Mo., to spend a few days with Johnny's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bright.

Upon their return, Mrs. Bright will again be employed at the Kingston Bank in place of Mrs. Getchell, who is ill.

Cub Pack 205 Holds Banquet

Cub Pack 205 held its Jubilee Banquet last evening in the Presbyterian Church.

The program opened with the Pledge of Allegiance under the direction of Charles Hull, leader. Members sang a song led by Bob Strawser, Bruce Bell and Doyle Painter, den chiefs.

Members of Den 2 received a two year service pin and the den was awarded a trophy for attendance. Den 2 Cubes awarded Lion Badges were Terry Hull, Brad Marshall, Jeff Clifton, Tom Goller, Greg Griffith, Gary Hartman, Jack Varble and Dale Reinhard.

Members of Den 3 were accepted into the pack. Wolf Badges were received by Billy Adkins, Greg White, Leo Porebski Jr., William Huber, John Schroeder, Mike Yates and Danny Radcliff.

Den 4 members received a one year service pin except Greg Lambert who was awarded a two year pin. Bear Badges were given to Ricky Compton, Brock Bell, Dave Yate, Phil Hines Jr., Jack White and Dick Carothers.

Those receiving Arrow Points were Ricky Compton, gold and silver; Gary Hartman, gold and silver; and Danny Radcliff, gold.

Following the program members were shown a movie on the origin and growth of the E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Company.

Ironton Jury Sought For Murder Hearing

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Only seven jurors have been tentatively selected from 122 prospects questioned for duty in the first-degree murder trial of Billy Joe Schaffer. Opposition to capital punishment excused 110 of those questioned.

The 24-year-old ex-convict is accused of the 1958 strangling of Mrs. Emma Remy, his former school teacher, in a 28-cent robbery. Authorities say he admitted the strangling and setting fire to her house.

Cleric Seeks Apology from Pennsy College

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The Rev. Rex Hubbard says he will demand a public apology from Allegheny College for a demonstration by students which he said made him cut short a religious service in the college fieldhouse Monday night.

"If we do not receive a public apology from the college, I will lay the blame for the indoctrination of the students against us on the president and other officials of the college," said the Rev. Mr. Hubbard, who is responsible for building the vast Cathedral of Tomorrow in Cuyahoga Falls. The cathedral has no denomination affiliation.

The normally two-hour service was cut in half when students rolled on the floor, whistled, shouted and played cards, the minister said. He said other students touched off firecrackers outside and burned crosses.

Dr. Lawrence L. Pelletier, Allegheny president, said in a statement:

"Obviously, Mr. Hubbard's views as expressed in a 30-minute sermon were not acceptable to an appreciable number of students in attendance. As president of Allegheny College, I would support the right of the students to maintain their point of view. By like reasoning similar courtesies should have been extended to Mr. Hubbard." Pelletier said reports on the disturbance were exaggerated.

John D. Rockefeller reputedly refused to argue with people if they did not agree with him.

Much Medical Progress Made In Fight against Heart Ills

Progress in the fight against the heart diseases is the encouraging note in this year's Heart Fund campaign.

Medical spokesmen of the Central Ohio Heart Assn., are agreed that our investment in heart research during the past dozen years has paid record dividends, and that increased contributions will bring even greater rewards.

Thanks to heart research, which has developed new means of diagnosis, prevention and treatment, lives are being saved today that would have been written off as hopeless just a decade ago.

According to heart authorities, it is now possible to inject an opaque fluid into the heart and, for the first time, fluoroscopically watch the muscle in action. The new procedure reveals defects that might not otherwise be detected.

SPECIFIC pressures in some of the chambers of the heart, another important factor in accurate diagnosis, now can be measured with the help of a catheter — a thin tube painlessly passed into the heart through an arm vein.

A new electronic device, the vectorcardiograph, now traces the course of the heart's electrical energy on a fluorescent screen from which photographs and motion pictures can be made for detailed study.

Veteran American physicians are continually amazed by the new speed, ease and accuracy of biological and chemical analyses that were beyond their reach before the age of advanced electronics.

New knowledge about the use of antibiotics makes it possible today to control seven out of ten cases of a disease which infects the lining of the heart and which previously was almost always fatal.

The prompt use of "strep"-killing drugs is preventing initial attacks of rheumatic fever, frequent forerunner of rheumatic heart disease, and protecting rheumatic fever victims from repeat attacks which further damage heart valves.

New drugs to retard blood clotting have helped physicians in recent years to treat the complications of "heart attack" in many instances. Still other drugs now effectively control most cases of high blood pressure.

PHENOMENAL progress has been made in the field of cardiovascular surgery. Abnormalities present in the heart at birth now can be corrected in many cases. Valves that have been scarred and damaged by rheumatic heart disease can often be repaired.

Defective arteries and heart valves can now be replaced with plastic substitutes. Even the aorta, the main artery supplying blood to the brain and to the heart itself, can be repaired successfully with the aid of newly perfected mechanical oxygenators which substitute temporarily for the heart and lungs during surgery.

Many of these great advances in the fight against the heart diseases — our nation's Number One health enemy — were speeded by scientists working under American Heart Assn. grants which have totaled more than $40 million in the past decade.

More than $600,000 has been channeled into research by the Central Ohio Heart Association. This year, the Association has allocated $162,452.76 to research at Central Ohio universities and hospitals.

There is still much to be done in controlling the heart disease problem, however, but the prospects are promising. How promising is well indicated by the prophecy of Dr. Paul Dudley White, Dr. Howard B. Sprague and other heart experts that, within the foreseeable future, "if research can be continued and expanded, we can markedly reduce heart disease among young and middle-aged persons."

The growth of your Heart Association's research, education and community service programs is in your hands. It depends upon your contributions to the Heart Fund. We urge you to help convert a heartening prophecy into reality by giving as liberally as you can to the Heart Fund campaign.
